RUSS TRY 'SOON' EXPERT PREDICTS

LONDON (Reuters) — A British space scientist predicted Sunday the Soviet Union "will try very soon" to launch a rocket to the moon.

Kenneth W. Gatland, vice-chairman of the British Interplanetary Society, said the Russian attempts might be made to coincide with the opening of the International Congress of Astronautics in Amsterdam next week.

"My feeling is that the Russians might have had a shot and failed," he said. "But whether they have or not I am sure that they will try very soon."

Fizzle Probed; Sept. 14 Next

LUCK NEEDED

First Try 'Honorable Failure'

LONDON (AP) — World scientists showed little surprise at the failure of the U.S. moon shot.

The Soviet Tass news agency reported the failure promptly, without comment, as did Radio Cairo.

In Tokyo, Japan's leading rocket expert, Dr. Hideo Ito-kawa, said luck as well as precise instruments is required and he had not expected the first effort to be successful.

A similar view was expressed by H. B. Ridley of the British Astronomical Association in London.

The story drew big headlines in European newspapers. Most editorial comment was that the firing had been an honorable failure.

"Missed me!—by 222,190 miles, 2,800 feet," quipped a beaming man in the moon above the London Daily Herald's lead story.

Editorially, The Herald put it this way: "Ae say hard luck—and better luck next time."

The Conservative Daily Sketch used the headline: "August moon is flopnik."

On the Continent, only the Communist press struck the sour note.

The rocket launched Sunday was the tallest ever fired in the U.S., a white-bodied, silver-tipped 88-footer.

The plan called for the Thor engine to produce its 150,000 pounds of thrust for a burning time of 157 seconds. Then the spent hull would drop away and the engine of the Vanguard second stage would take over.

REACHED 50,000 FEET
The missile climbed to about 50,000 feet, angling over slightly toward the northeast. Then there was a puff of smoke and a tongue of flame.

In Washington, Lt. Gen. Roscoe Wilson, air force deputy chief of staff for research and development, predicted that another U.S. moon rocket attempt will be made Sept. 14.

'WONDERFUL ATTEMPT'

Soviets Sympathetic On U.S. Moon Failure

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian scientists took sympathetic note today of the U.S. attempt to shoot for the moon. One said it was a pity it failed; another called it "a wonderful attempt."

There was no derision. The Russians seemed to share in the disappointment—but no great surprise—of U.S. and British scientists here for the 10th congress of the International Astronomical Union.

Even before this initial strike at the moon, a second attempt had been ordered. The follow-up U.S. Air Force lunar probe attempt is expected during a three-day period starting Sept. 14. There was a distinct possibility that the Russians might attempt to beat the new U.S. deadline by one day.

Divers descended into 60 feet of water some 10 miles north-east of the cape and came up with sections of the metal skin of the Thor 1,500-mile range missile that was the rocket's first stage.

The two upper stages—both borrowed from the navy Vanguard program, continued onward an undetermined distance after the explosion. It was not expected that that part of the wreckage would be recovered.

BLAST IN ENGINE

Preliminary analysis indicated that the explosion occurred in the engine compartment of the first of the three rocket stages.

Maj. Gen. Bernard Schriever, chief of the air force ballistic missile division, told a press conference that it might take a week to pinpoint the trouble definitely.

A leak in or rupture of one of the liquid-oxygen or fuel lines might have touched off the explosion, he said.

Schriever and Roy W. Johnson, head of the defence department's space program, said two hours after the blow-up that they were disappointed but not discouraged by the failure.

FIVE ATTEMPTS

Johnson, director of the advanced research projects agency, said the malfunctioning of any of 300,000 parts could make the missile do what this one did.

This was the first of five lunar probe attempts ordered for this year, three by the air force and two by the army.

The rocket launched Sunday was the tallest ever fired in the U.S., a white-bodied, silver-tipped 88-footer.

The plan called for the Thor engine to produce its 150,000 pounds of thrust for a burning time of 157 seconds. Then the spent hull would drop away and the engine of the Vanguard second stage would take over.

There was no derision. The Russians seemed to share in the disappointment—but no great surprise—of U.S. and British scientists here for the 10th congress of the International Astronomical Union.

Mrs. Anna Masevich, director of the Soviet Mosnatch program and a noted astronomer, said:

"A failure in the scientific world is always a pity because it affects so many people."

A. B. Severny, director of the Crimean Observatory in southern Russia, said the U.S. launching, however unsuccessful, remains "the first wonderful attempt of a very important activity."

Peace Mission by Dag Urged by West in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—A Western-supported resolution was laid before the emergency UN General Assembly today proposing that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld be given a new Middle East peace mission.

The new plan was whipped into final form in a busy weekend of conferences between the chief sponsor, deputy foreign minister Hans Engen of Norway, and other key delegates.

Main points in the Norwegian resolution:

1. Hammarskjöld would make such arrangements as he may find adequate in upholding the principles and purposes of the UN charter in relation to Lebanon and Jordan.

2. The assembly would reaffirm that all UN members should refrain from acts, direct or indirect, aimed at fomenting civil strife in other countries or at subversion.
3. Hammarskjöld would be asked to continue his studies on a possible standby UN peace force for the Middle East. He also would be asked to consult with the Arabs on the possibility of setting up an economic regional development agency.

4. A report would be requested by Sept. 30, when the regular fall assembly will be in session.

A diplomat said some Arab and Asian countries had objected that the resolution did not say specifically that the United States and Britain should withdraw their troops.

Engen was said to be ready to urge adoption of the resolution despite this adverse reception.

JORDAN RETREATS
At the opening of today's debate Jordan's delegate, Abedel Monem Rifai, backed down from his opposing position of last week and said his country would "always be ready to welcome the presence of the United Nations in Jordan in a form which my government finds fit to overcome the present crisis."

This was taken as smoothing off one element of opposition to the new compromise attempt, since Rifai's statement of opposition last Thursday to accepting UN troops as a protection force in lieu of the present British contingent had indicated rough going for the compromise move.

The intermediary powers who joined in sponsoring today's resolution were careful to avoid direct identification with Britain and the U.S., the two big powers involved. Norway placed it before the assembly with co-sponsorship from Canada, Colombia and Denmark—with several others expected to join later.

SUSPECT HELD IN WASHINGTON

(See Page 8)

TONASKET, Wash. (UPI)—RCMP stood guard today over Donald Stevens, 54, wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of Anita Budde, 27, and the wounding of RCMP Cpl. Ralph Brown.

Stevens was arrested seven miles north of here after being shot in the hip while trying to elude a police cordon along the Washington-B.C. border. Police chief Lloyd Atchison said Stevens claimed U.S. nationality. His claim was investigated and if proved correct extradition procedure to B.C. would be started.

'No Strike' Policy Urged On Loggers

By DAVID COWLISHAW

British Columbia's 28,000 woodworkers have been urged by their leaders not to strike for higher pay but to accept the no-increase peace terms offered Sunday by provincial government forestry advisor Gordon Sloan.

Voting began today and the result is expected to be known by Aug. 25.

Mr. Sloan's formula for settlement, reached after two weeks of talks with the International Woodworkers of America in B.C. and officials representing 148 coast operators, recommends that the present wage scale be extended for another year, which means there would be no increase.

SIDE BENEFITS

But it would give the union several gains in the hours of work clause, statutory holidays, leave of absence, seniority arrangements and medical service benefits.

IWA district president Joe Morris promptly announced that the union executive had recommended to members that they accept the formula.

The unionists met Sunday to hear IWA leaders interpret Mr. Sloan's report. Voting began today by secret ballot.

The Sloan formula—which has already been accepted by the industry—proposes no wage increases for the current year. The present basic rate is $1.72 an hour with an average throughout the industry of $2.10.

The IWA originally asked for a 10-per-cent boost, later reduced it to 5 cents an hour.

PEACE PREDICTED

In the ballot the men are asked: "Are you in favor of accepting the Sloan formula as a settlement of 1958 negotiations?"

Although they have the right to reject the proposals, contained in a special issue of the union newspaper The B.C. Lumber Worker, it is unlikely that the men will do so.

Mr. Morris said: "Commis-

100 Extra RCMP Sent to Okanagan

KELOWNA (CP)—Discovery of the shattered body of a young Sons of Freedom Doukhobor in an isolated cabin in the Okanagan hills led police Sunday to piece together a story of terrorist bomb manufacture that somehow went wrong.

It left another member of the religious sect maimed for life after crawling 400 yards to a highway and crying for help with half his chest blown away. A motorist picked him up three days after the estimated time of the blast.

RCMP identified the dead man as Philip Pereveresoff, 20, of Winlaw, B.C., which lies 200 miles across the Cascade Mountains in the Kootenays near the headquarters of the fanatic Freedomite sect at Krestova.

Both arms were blown away. Under guard in Kelowna Hospital is Harry Boje, 20, also of Winlaw. One lung was blown away, his face was injured and he has lost the sight of one eye.

They said the bomb had apparently been set to go off at midnight Wednesday, about the same time terrorist bombs blasted two post offices and a public building in the Okanagan centres of Osoyoos, Oliver and Vernon.

Enough Dynamite for Six Bombs

But the officers were unable to determine what went wrong. RCMP Staff Sgt. W. B. Irving said two sticks of dynamite were used in the bomb which exploded. Another 10 sticks were found nearby, enough to make five more bombs.

The dynamite was of the highest potency—next in power to nitroglycerine.

Sgt. L. R. MacBride of Calgary was brought down from the Vernon army camp Sunday to detonate the other explosives.

Police said they believe Pereveresoff's cabin was one of a number of nerve centres for the manufacture of terrorist bombs, rather than the main "factory" as at first believed.

The latest development in terrorist activity led authorities to rush 100 RCMP police from Chilliwack and Kamloops into the area to augment the regular eight-man Kelowna detachment.

Heavy police guards were put on the new $7,500,000 Okanagan Lake Bridge, on industrial plants and business houses.

Doukhobor terrorism in the past has been chiefly associated with the Kootenays, but this year the Okanagan has experienced numerous bombings.

Sect Leader Killed in 1924 Blast

A standing reward of $25,000 for information leading to the conviction of terrorists was posted by the provincial government early this year in an attempt to quash the new outbreak of violence.

The only other death in the long history of Doukhobor explosiveness was in October, 1924, when Peter Verigin the Elder, the original Doukhobor leader, was blown up along with some of his followers by a time bomb in Verigin's CPR railway car.

Police were led to their grisly discovery in the Pereveresoff cabin in the hills back of McKimley's Landing, 11 miles north of here, after being notified by Peter Brown that he had picked up an injured man on the road.

Brown, a McKimley's Landing cabin dweller, told police he heard an explosion in the hill back of the summer resort cottage settlement about midnight Wednesday. On Thursday he saw a man lying underneath a car near a cabin and heard the car's horn blowing. But he thought the man was repairing the car and drove on.

Only last Friday five young Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were committed at Kelowna to stand trial on charges of conspiring to cause explosions.

The five are Sam Konkin, 27, Alex Konkin, 26, his brother; John Antifaef, 24; George Woykin, 22, and John Nazarov, 21. All were working in the Kelowna area at the time of their arrest.

They were charged following a lengthy RCMP investigation of terrorist explosions in various parts of the Okanagan in recent months.

BAKEWELL, England — Bishop George Sinker conducted a service from the saddle Sunday for 40 young horsemen of the Bakewell Riding Club.

The bishop stayed on his mount throughout the service in a local park.

"I believe it was the first service of its kind," he said later.

A horseback procession through the Derbyshire town, with the Anglican bishop at its head, preceded the service. Music was played by the town band.

In his short sermon, carried by loudspeakers from a microphone set up in front of his mount, Bishop Sinker blessed the horses gathered in the field and said a prayer for them.

HOLLYWOOD — Back in the film capital from location in Spain, Jayne Mansfield was asked how she liked Europe.

"Never again," she replied blithely. "You can't get a decent hamburger or malted over there."

"It's nice in some little cultural ways. But they don't even have barbecues in their backyards. And that's what I missed most of all."

GUISBOROUGH, Eng. — A cow chomped through a television cable here Sunday and almost deprived viewers of a program about life on the farm.

Engineers found the severed cable only 15 minutes before the program was scheduled to go out on Britain's commercial television network.

Sloaner Sloan has made a most capable and energetic effort to establish a basis of settlement and avert a strike.

Today Mr. Sloan said he had hoped the result of the vote would be known today or Tuesday, but later understood the result might not come "for a few days."

An IWA official in Victoria fixed the probable date of announcement of the vote result as Aug. 24 or 25.

EMPLOYERS ACCEPT

John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, which represents the operators, told The Times the FIR was "recommending the Sloan report to our members," but declined further comment.

The lumber companies have claimed they could not afford to pay an increase because of unsuitable market conditions. This argument was upheld by the majority report of a conciliation board, which recommended no increase.

In a union ballot workers voted 90 per cent in favor of a walkout to enforce their demands. However, in a subsequent government-supervised vote June 27 only 65 per cent of the membership favored strike action.

In a radio broadcast in Vancouver during the weekend, the union pointed out that it had negotiated well beyond what would have been strike readiness in order to avoid a "disastrous situation."

Union officials also claimed that there were "considerable grounds" for believing the employers wanted to provoke the IWA into an unpopular and prolonged strike "that would destroy the union's bargaining strength for many years to come."

This was laid as one reason the IWA leaders urged their members to vote acceptance of the Sloan formula.

PORTLAND (AP) — The International Woodworkers of America announced Saturday night it will seek a wage increase for its 45,000 members. Last spring the union agreed to extend its contract without a wage increase because of the lumber market slump.

However, a union official said Saturday night that recent lumber prices justify a wage increase.

The union will open negotiations here Sept. 16 with the lumbermen's industrial relations committee and the door manufacturers' industrial committee, said Harvey Nelson, chairman of the union's northwest regional negotiating committee.

Police Chief Kills Himself At Saint John

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (UPI) — Police Chief J. J. Oakes, 53, was found shot to death in his car Sunday night, and Mayor W. W. Macaulay announced later that he died from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The car was parked in the chief's garage. His service revolver lay beside him.

An inquiry ruled out the possibility that he was shot by someone else. Macaulay said no inquiry would be held.

Police sources said Oakes was heard in a loud argument with other officers of the department before he left his office. Oakes' death was similar to that of Toronto Police Chief John Chisholm July 4. Chisholm was believed to have shot himself with his service revolver in his car at a Toronto park.

UN

but it was understood that the U.S. and Britain were firmly behind its draft terms.

INDIA SAID OPPOSED

Diplomatic sources said India would vote against the plan.

Meanwhile, State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd submitted letters to the assembly president, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, giving formal assurances that U.S. and British forces will be withdrawn from Lebanon and Jordan when stable conditions are restored.

A key part of the letters designed to ease Arab opposition to the Western resolution declared that U.S. and British forces would be pulled out as soon as the Assembly determined that the UN had taken action making their presence unnecessary.

The new resolution was intended as a counter-move to Russia's motion to the Assembly last week by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko which put more emphasis on withdrawal as a first step in sending the problem to the UN organization.

This Russian plan got initial support from the Arab-Asian voting group.

Sunday night, after Engen had talked to Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of the U.A.R., an Arab source indicated that Nasser's spokesman at the UN had not accepted "any resolution."

Lacking, apparently, the support of the Arab-Asian voting bloc, the compromise proposal's hope of achieving the required two-thirds majority in the 81-member assembly was slimmer than that of the previous Russian resolution, which aimed at the votes of the 28-member Arab-Asian group and some of the neutralists as well.

The Nasser press today said meanwhile, the Norwegian plan for stabilizing the Middle East is doomed but that Hamarskjold soon will visit Cairo anyway.

The newspaper Al Ahram, unofficial outlet for U.A.R. President Nasser, said Hamarskjold already has made plans to fly to Cairo to discuss the situation with Nasser. There was no official confirmation of the report.

ENDS TALKS WITH FEISAL

Nasser ended three days of talks with Crown Prince Feisal, the premier of Saudi Arabia. Feisal told reporters a full and solid renewal of good relations between his country and the U.A.R. developed from the talks.

Feisal's visit has aroused wide-spread speculation that Saudi Arabia eventually will federate with the U.A.R. as Yemen has. Nasserites claimed the U.A.R. also is winning support from Iraq and Sudan and Libya.

The rebel leader in Beirut, Saeb Salam, called for immediate withdrawal of the UN observer corps in Lebanon as well as the observers' three reports as of U.S. troops. Salam said the observers' three reports confirmed rebel contentions that the fighting has been primarily an internal matter rather than a case of U.A.R. "massive interference" as claimed by the Lebanese government.

Australia Farms Hit by Flooding

Vancouver Blonde Miss Canada 1958

HAMILTON (CP) — A statuesque blonde from Vancouver who wants to act on Broadway is Canada's 1958 beauty queen.

For winning the Miss Canada pageant Saturday, 19-year-old Danica d'Hondt receives a $1,000 scholarship to continue drama studies at the University of British Columbia and a $1,000 wardrobe. She is also in for a hectic 12 months of personal appearances in Canada and overseas.

Miss d'Hondt is five-feet, nine inches was the tallest of the 25 contestants. Her statistics: 38-23-38.

'SHE'S TERRIFIC'

Miss Victoria Back Had Wonderful Time

Miss Victoria, blue-eyed, 18-year-old Mary Gibson, today was filled with enthusiasm following her week in Hamilton, Ont., where she was in competition with 24 other lovelies for the title of Miss Canada.

Though she failed to place, Miss Gibson said the experience was "wonderful, just wonderful. The hospitality was extraordinary."

She returned here Sunday. The contestants had a tightly-packed schedule of tours, luncheons and personal experiences.

Miss Gibson's room-mate during the week was Miss Canada herself, 19-year-old Danica d'Hondt of Vancouver.

"She is a terrific person and will make an exceptional Miss Canada," said Miss Gibson.

The Victoria beauty leaves here Saturday for Vancouver to compete in the Miss PNE contest.

She will not take part in the parade today as Victoria's float will feature a scaled-down, five-foot model of Queen Victoria. Designer Roderick Clark said a live young woman on the float would throw the presentation out of proportion.

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Herman Kierdorf, former Teamster official sought for two weeks for questioning in the death by fire of his nephew, game himself, Sunday night.

The 68-year-old onetime business agent for a Teamsters' Union local surrendered by agreement at a drive-in restaurant.

"I'm happy to have it over with," he said.

Herman vanished Aug. 4, the day his nephew, Frank Kierdorf, 54, staggered into a Pontiac hospital with burns which police believe he suffered while setting fire to a dry cleaning shop in Flint, Mich.

Before he died three days later, Frank said he was burned deliberately by two men, but police said their investigation disproved the story.

Denying any connection with the reported arson, Herman said he surrendered because he really "had no reason to hide."

He also insisted that his nephew had not burned himself.

"Why should Frank set that place on fire as an arson job?" he asked. "I just don't believe Frank would do a thing like that."

UNIONS TOLD TO BREAK PACTS WITH TEAMSTERS

UNITY HOUSE, Pa. (AP) — The AFL-CIO today ordered its affiliated unions to end as soon as possible all mutual aid pacts with the ousted Teamsters union.

The move, spearheaded by AFL-CIO President George Meany, was voted by the federation's executive council.

More than a half-dozen alliances of AFL-CIO unions with the Teamsters will have to be scrapped.

The Teamsters have been the target of more than 18 months of corruption charges by the Senate rackets investigation committee in Washington.

Formal cutting of Teamster aid could result in Teamsters' retaliation that would pit union against union and dilute strike co-operation.

Williamson Heirs Get Cash Payment For Mine Shares

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (CP) — Harry Oppenheimer, chairman of the De Beers Consolidated Mines, said today his company has made a lump-sum payment to the Canadian heirs of the late Dr. John T. Williamson for their interest in the fabulously-rich Mwadui diamond mine.

Oppenheimer declined to disclose the amount paid to each of the heirs, but said the sum involved had been paid in Canadian dollars because they were Canadian residents. Special arrangements had to be made to make the payment in dollars since Tanganyika is in the sterling area.

Higher Education Needed To Aid Indian Population

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER (CP) — Most Rev. Fergus O'Grady, Roman Catholic Bishop of Prince Rupert, says the most pressing need of British Columbia Indians is higher education in joint white and Indian high schools.

In an interview here Sunday the bishop said many people in B.C. are quick to condemn Indians, especially in such an incident as the Prince Rupert riot, but are slow to accept them as equals.

He said the Indian cannot be expected to conform to society, customs and manners if he is not educated alongside white children from kindergarten up.

"We have Indian nurses, teachers and stenographers now — you would not have seen them 20 years ago — but there is still a long way to go. The Indians are only 1 per cent of Canada's population. You cannot keep them segregated forever."

Bishop O'Grady, who for 20 years has been trying to improve the calibre of Indian education, said Indians do not lack intelligence. What they do lack, he said is encouragement.

Kirby Heads Tories In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Progressive Conservative Association Saturday selected a 48-year-old lawyer, W. J. C. Kirby, as its first leader in 21 years.

Mr. Kirby's election on the fourth ballot wound up the party's two-day leadership convention here, attended by more than 800 persons.

The meeting set the stage for the Conservatives' campaign for the next provincial election, expected next year.

Mr. Kirby is one of three Conservatives in the 61-seat Alberta legislature. He was first elected in a 1954 by-election and retained his Red Deer seat until the 1955 general provincial election.

Mr. Kirby becomes the party's first full-fledged provincial leader since 1937, when D. M. Duggan, former Edmonton mayor, retired. The party has been headed in the legislature by its acting House leader, J. Percy Page, of Edmonton.

VETS' BENEFIT BOOSTS APPROVED BY COMMONS

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons today gave final reading to three bills widening benefits to war veterans and their dependents.

Two of the bills increase the amount of insurance that may be paid to beneficiaries of veterans.

Under an amendment to the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act, affecting First World War veterans, the amount of insurance that may be paid in a lump sum in certain cases is boosted to $1,000 from $500. The same increase applies to the Veterans' Insurance Act which affects Second World War and Korean War veterans.

The second bill — amending the Veterans' Insurance Act — extends to Sept. 30, 1962, from Oct. 31, 1958, the deadline for veterans who may wish to take out a policy.

The third bill amends the Children of War Dead Act to broaden eligibility and boost some assistance rates for the higher education of children of war dead.

The three bills now go to the Senate.

PM to Make Public Arctic Travel Rules

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised in the Commons today to make public "regulations" governing travel arrangements in the Arctic.

Opposition Leader Pearson asked the prime minister to table a July 23 "agreement" on the subject. Mr. Diefenbaker said there is no agreement as such, but he would be glad to table "regulations" discussed over a period of time and which reached their "final determination" July 23.

Last week, Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton said he was "ashamed" that Canadians had to apply to the United States for permission to visit Canadian Arctic posts manned by Americans.

The U.S. state department later denied this and Mr. Hamilton acknowledged the department was correct. Mr. Hamilton said improved travel arrangements had been completed and set forth in an agreement dated July 23.

Mr. Pearson also asked Mr. Diefenbaker to table an agreement of May, 1955, governing Arctic travel arrangements.

There is not much of it to be seen, but it is a hearing-aid which fits snugly behind the ear.

It has no receiver in the ear, no cord and, of course, no clothing noise. It weighs less than one ounce.

It is quiet and restful to wear but has ample power for all but the most severe hearing losses. As one customer says "It is so quiet, but I can understand conversation."

PM Steps in as Starr Gunned on Employment

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Diefenbaker unexpectedly plunged into a labor debate in the Commons Saturday to back up Labor Minister Starr while the minister was being gunned by the opposition on unemployment.

Hustling into the House, Mr. Diefenbaker made it plain the government would not mind a non-confidence vote on its labor policies.

No one took him up.

Mr. Diefenbaker's intervention came after the Progressive Conservative majority defeated 58-21 a motion by CCF House Leader Hazen Argue seeking to defer a labor debate pending announcement of government plans for tackling winter unemployment.

Opposition members were particularly incensed when Mr. Starr said that on unemployment the government has had "no suggestions from any member of this House".

J. W. Pickersgill (L. Bonaventure-Twillingate), said any responsible government should bring in a program to deal with unemployment.

On the general question of what might happen to employment, Mr. Starr said he has been advised by his officials to this effect:

1. The Canadian economy last year was deteriorating to a "marked degree."

2. This year it is on "the up-swing."

The prime minister made it clear that he backed up his labor minister.

"If under the circumstances the gentlemen opposite the Opposition do not like what the minister of labor says, I am not going to alter it in any way."

Mr. Starr later said "there is every likelihood" Canada is facing heavy unemployment in the coming winter. But the government was ready to act to meet the situation, as it had last winter.

Mr. Starr said his department is studying a number of suggestions by him on changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act. He had hoped to present these at this session of Parliament, but now it appeared they would have to wait until the next session.

Iron Curtain Sales Trip Hinted

Trade Minister Churchill, announcing a cut in items Canada considers militarily strategic to Communist countries, hinted he is planning a personal sales trip behind the Iron Curtain.

The export control list, the minister said, "serves an important function in indicating those items which are regarded as strategic."

This meant export permits for items not on the list "will be readily available for export to any Soviet-bloc destination on application."

The minister said the most significant change in the list—cut to about 50 per cent of the one used since 1954—is export permits are no longer required for sales to friendly countries of items deleted.

Referring to four months of Paris negotiations recently by 15 Western countries including Canada to cut down the strategic items, Mr. Churchill said Canada's revised list conforms with the one agreed on by the Allies.

JAPAN DOCKERS WON'T UNLOAD MISSILE GEAR

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—Japanese opposition to nuclear weapons today again blocked the unloading of Swiss guided-missile equipment which defence officials say cannot take atomic warheads. The Japan longshoremen's union, backed by the opposition Socialist party and a host of leftist groups, refused to touch the missile cargo that arrived Sunday. It called the shipment a step toward arming Japan with atomic weapons.

Russ to Give Atomic Arms To Red China

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the Soviet Union has decided to supply atomic weapons and ballistic missiles to Communist China, plus more economic development aid. A Times dispatch from Warsaw said reports reaching the Polish capital indicated the Russians also have decided to help Red China launch an earth satellite and to build four more nuclear reactors there. China claims one reactor now.

The reports were said to come from sources that reported a recent military and political agreement between Moscow and Peking.

The agreements are believed in Warsaw to be aimed at least partly "to give a major psychological lift to Peking's place in world affairs," The Times said.

The Chinese Communists are reported to have told the Russians they need ballistic missiles and anti-missile defences because of the presence of United States and Nationalist forces on Formosa. The Times said the type of missiles Russia agreed to supply is not known.

OLD GORGE GLORIES REVIVED

15,000 at New Park

Greater Victoria's newest park is now officially open after three days of entertainment viewed by an estimated 15,000 persons.

The $60,000 Kinsmen-Gorge Park was dedicated Sunday by Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele at ceremonies attended by dignitaries from the provincial government and other municipalities.

High spot of the weekend for the youngsters was a "gold coin shower" Saturday when a plane dropped 10,000 cardboard coins in the area.

Adults dodged as the children scrambled.

Bikes were presented to Frances Haynee and Robert Peden for collecting the most in a specified time, though long after finish of the contest children were still arriving, pockets bulging with "coins."

The park, complete with a giant-size swimming hole, has been the major project of Kinsmen clubs in the area for the past two years.

The clubmen raised over $10,000 through their mass bingo games and this, with $10,000 from the Centennial Committee, has "made a start" on the project.

Officials said they intend to spend a further $60,000 to make it into "a little Stanley Park."

BINGO SEPT. 15

Kinsmen bingo committee chairman Jack Phillion said that the next bingo game would be Sept. 15 at Memorial Arena with a total of $10,000 in prizes to be awarded, including a $3,300 car.

A repeat of the popular "hidden guest" prize will be held with the winner chosen from players purchasing tickets during the first 10 days.

The winner may invite a guest to Victoria "from any-

'I Just Drowned My 3 Children'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—"I have just drowned my three children," said a 24-year-old mother, who stood in line to await her turn at the police complaint desk.

Patrolmen found three small boys dead—David, 6; Alvin, 4; and Richard, 2.

Bernal said Mrs. Pena became hysterical under questioning. When asked why she killed the children could only sob: "I didn't want my husband to have them."

Gift of the Centenary

BRITISH COLUMBIA IS WELL past the half-way mark in the celebration of its centennial. Hundreds of events, great and small, have been completed. Hundreds more remain to be staged.

The brilliantly successful Royal Visit of Princess Margaret has made the year memorable for thousands. Huge crowds have seen and will remember the spectacular naval review. In Vancouver the International Festival has been born with the promise of a burgeoning future.

In city and in hamlet individual events have added their color and significance to a program that has cheered our people and their visitors on British Columbia's 100th birthday.

They have danced and laughed and sung. They have put on their best clothes for fiestas. They have watched spectacles and incidents that have caught the emotions of all.

It has been a happy time. Old eyes have brightened at the recollection of earlier days. Children have found sources of wonder and the stuff of which memories are made.

The centennial has been successful to this time—promises to enjoy continued success in the days ahead.

But there has been much more to the year and its various functions than a festival gaiety or even a recognition of some of our people still living who played their part in making British Columbia.

There has been a discovery by the people themselves of roots, a beginning sense of history, a feeling for what British Columbia is and what has transformed it into the land we know today from the wilderness of mountains, rivers, forests, and rugged coast it was 100 years ago.

The mountains, rivers, forests and coast are still around us. A hundred years and more of settlement have changed them in comparatively few locations. But the hands of men and women have touched many of them, have given them purpose, have marked them for the homes of British Columbians, have harnessed some of them to the uses of the century.

A centennial celebration has encouraged our people to look back a hundred years and beyond. Today they are more familiar with the exploits of the explorers, those who were here long before British Columbia came into existence. They know something of Cook and Vancouver, of Mackenzie, of Simon Fraser and David Thompson, of that other granite Scot, James Douglas, who brought the outpost of a fur empire, a tiny trading post, to the beginnings of a city and a capital.

They can look now on the farms of favored valleys and visualize their growth from fields bordering the forests, sometimes replacing the forest itself.

They can imagine the toil, endurance and genius which converted hillside and woods into the raw material of industries—and sometimes despoiled the land.

They can look at the rivers that leap from mountain headwaters to fuel the electrical machine or provide safe spawning for salmon. They can stand by a trout stream or fish the mountain lake.

They can trace their own origins, the mixture of races which followed the pioneer Scot, Englishman, Canadian, and European here. They can sense the blending of different elements into a distinctive kind of man—a man with feeling for British Columbia, an individual, but a member of a provincial family.

This is one of the intangibles influencing a people who review a century's story in a land that was new so recently—and remains still uncharted in its more remote sections.

This is the true inspiration and lasting result of our centenary—this increased awareness of a fair land and the people who have kept it fair.

Warning on Water

GREATER VICTORIA'S WATER Commissioner, Ronald Upward, has served an indirect warning on this community.

He says that heavy use of water may have dipped into next year's reserves and that if we have a winter of little rain and snow, consumers may feel the pinch next summer. That could mean rationing—already practised in some municipalities.

The warning is timely. It should draw public attention to the fact that substantial improvements will have to be made in the relatively near future.

Greater Victoria does not, happily, face the water problem occurring with increased severity in certain parts of the continent, California for instance. We have access to supplies adequate, on authoritative estimate, for a population double our size. But the water is out in Sooke and adjacent regions and much of it, under fresher conditions, is running to waste.

Ahead of this community is a major job of raising the reservoir to store more of the available supply as well as a large project to increase delivery to consumers.

Eventually the construction of the Sooke tunnel will be imperative. That will be costly, as will the raising of reservoir sides.

Both projects are feasible. Moreover, when the board discharges its debt to the city for acquisition of the water system, earnings may be diverted to financing the work.

In the meantime, residents of Greater Victoria should heed the words of the commissioner. They have expenses ahead. They should prepare for them. That is one of the points a possible shortage next year will draw to their attention.

Tragedy in the North

PARLIAMENT HAS BEEN TOLD the pitiful story of 14 Eskimos who died from starvation at Garry Lake last winter and the moving account has touched the hearts of all who heard it.

As the tragedy has been reconstructed, the Eskimos had apparently been unable to find caribou, their staple food supply, had made their way to the Garry Lake site where emergency food had been stored and had found the cache burned, the food destroyed.

Mr. Mervyn Hardie, member for the territory concerned, coupled with his report of the disaster a further warning that starvation was a growing threat in the northland as the number of caribou diminished. He expressed the fear that if the present rate of decrease continued, there would be no caribou by 1962.

Present efforts of the wild life service to track the animals and other attempts to increase herds may partially solve the problem—a northern parallel to that which confronted the Indians of North America when the buffalo herds virtually disappeared.

Another possibility might be the transfer of Eskimos to localities in which they would have closer access to food, not necessarily of their own hunting.

But an underlying fact which must be considered in any such proposal is the way of life followed by the Eskimos. Can their nomadic existence be changed? Or should it be if change is possible?

A native people usually clings to its style of existence. Modification comes slowly. The Eskimos have every right to continue the life which is traditionally theirs. Canada has a responsibility to see that they are relieved, as far as possible, of the threat of starvation.

Safer store houses for emergency rations and intensified work to develop the caribou herds seem essentials in that task.

Echoes in the Park

OLD-TIMERS WILL HAVE read with a touch of nostalgia of the rehabilitation of the Gorge Park. Newer residents will have learned with interest that the warm-water swimming area is once more open to the public. But all will entertain a feeling of gratitude to the Victoria Kinsman Club which was largely instrumental in providing funds for these greatly needed improvements to the former B.C. Electric pleasure grounds.

Whether the new facilities may be extended will depend on public support of the resort and of the club's activities. It is to be hoped that the park will be further developed and widely patronized. But whatever improvements and changes may be made, for older Victorians there will always remain a memory of the vaudeville shows on the stage that stood where beach sand has now been spread, of the pierrot songs punctuated by pings from the nearby shooting gallery, of the "attles and feminine shrieks from the roller coaster back in the trees, and of tea-and-toast in the Japanese gardens whose fame was continent-wide.

These were other days and other pleasures. Under its new sponsorship the Gorge Park may now be entering an era of fresh popularity and enjoyment. The opening weekend of festivities augurs well.

The Track Meet Season

NOW YOU SEE IT . . .

By B. A. TOBIN

Forward Into the Past

THAT was an intriguing item in the paper on Saturday—that account of the newly developed camera which uses heat rays rather than light rays to activate its negative. Ordinarily a camera takes pictures because light waves from an object pass through the lens and strike a sensitized film. The resulting chemical action creates light and dark areas on the film which correspond to the appearance of the object which was photographed. But the new camera responds only to heat waves. Presumably the light and dark surfaces of the object reflect different degrees of heat. And in any case an object, say a metal barrel, would radiate differently from the ground around it, so that its shape would be conveyed to the camera film.

Tobin

Linger On

But the most startling fact emerges. An object throws off heat waves into the surrounding air. Even after it has been removed those heat waves may remain for a time, if the air is still; or heat may continue to be thrown off from the ground which absorbed it when the object was there.

So, by registering this heat, an image resembling that of the object may be recorded—even though the object has since moved on to another location. You can take a photograph of something that isn't there any more!

It's just part of the Buck Rogers world we live in, I suppose. Anybody who believes in the existence of a light camera can believe in the existence of a heat camera.

Anybody who accepts the fact that you can reproduce the picture of an automobile that stands before you has only a small step further to go to believe that you can do the same for an automobile that left a little while ago.

You can still take a portrait of Annie, even though Annie doesn't live here any more.

That Was No Lady

This could become confusing. Will Henry Hennepeck someday be confronted with a photograph taken by one of those sidewalk cameramen, showing him striding along beside some dashing blonde showgirl, when all that he really was striding along beside was the heat waves left by her presence half an hour before?

Will Hank the Heister be trapped in court by a heat photograph showing him squatting before an opened safe—a photograph snapped twenty minutes after Hank had taken alarm and fled unseen by approaching police?

Will Johnny's visit to the jam cupboard be photographable and damning even though Johnny is innocently playing in the front yard when mother comes home?

There is no end to such speculation. We may even have a lady so photographed apologizing for her appearance by saying: "It's not at all a good likeness. I was feeling chilly at the time."

For each of us it's going to be a case of the old hit tune: "The Song Is Ended But the Melody Lingers On." Our "heat echoes" will be heard—and seen—long after we have moved along.

The military uses, of course, are fairly obvious. Troops or vehicles hidden by camouflage will still be "visible" to the heat camera. An observer plane could fly over a highway and safely take pictures of enemy guns which had travelled it half an hour before.

A nice warm submarine will send its picture to the surface of the cold sea for all heat cameras to record. And underground atomic plants, which pour out a great deal of heat, will make their mark on any passing negative.

The big game hunter may be able to send home portraits of himself standing fearlessly beside a grizzly bear or lion, although the animal will have departed before the hunter arrived to pose beside its spoor. Hit-and-run drivers will find even a worse enemy than their conscience. And who knows what sights archaeologists may be able to photograph when they open a pharaoh's tomb?

Future Glimpse

But I see this development, startling as it is, as merely another step toward the eventual camera to end all cameras. That is the camera that will take a picture of an event shortly before it happens, rather than shortly afterwards.

Imagine, for instance, being able to go to the race track and take a shot of the photo-finish in the third race two hours before it occurs. That would be handy, eh?

Or suppose you got a scenic shot of the stockbroker's blackboard an hour before the market opened? Or a cabinet member might be interested at lunch time in a picture of the standing vote in the legislature that wouldn't vote until that afternoon.

The advantages of the present discovery are readily apparent. The need for further advances are equally evident. The far-distant day may yet come when science will permit each individual to peer into the future of his life, absorb all the details—the pleasures and the pains—assess their value and importance, and dispense with the bother of living it out. And that, in many cases, might prove a great boon too.

Victoria's Ship Connections

The reports to the effect that the Victoria-Vancouver midnight runs of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service may end this fall and that the Seattle service may come to an end, should not occasion any surprise.

For a long time now the CPR has given every indication that it is not interested in anything but the Vancouver-Nanaimo service and this has been evidenced in several ways.

There have been no plans to replace the Elizabeth and Joan and without these two ships the service could not be maintained as in the past. These vessels are nearly 30 years old and in the opinion of a great many well-informed people they have about run their course. The sales of the Queen of the North—ex Princess Norah—and the Princess of Alberni are significant and it is my guess that the Princess Louise will be the next to be sold. It is questionable whether the Joan and Elizabeth can be sold, and it is probable that they will be scrapped.

In my opinion what the CPR has in mind is to use the Marguerite and the Patricia in a summer service only, with its only American connection being Port Angeles, although it is possible that during the summer months the Seattle service will be continued.

All this of course, is extremely unsatisfactory from the point of view of Greater Victoria. However, one must conclude that it is a matter of economics that the CPR cannot be expected to run ships at a loss, which is the inevitable result of high operating costs.

On the other hand the Provincial Government is to be congratulated with regard to its proposed fast ferry connection between some point on the Saanich Peninsula and the mainland. These ferries probably will not be operated on a profitable basis but they will constitute something quite analogous to a toll bridge, and will constitute part of the highway system of the Province.

The Young and the Good

My friend and I went to the auction rooms and sat beside a young couple. The girl couldn't have been more than 18 and the boy no more than 20.

They were furnishing their home, and I might add got some beautiful bargains. But they gave my faith in our young generation such a boost. I have always felt that 90 per cent of the young people are really fine, the other 10 per cent may be bad, but then there always have been bad ones and always will be.

This particular young pair were so sensible and so nice. It never fails to amaze me that the young people are as mentally and physically healthy as they are when there are so many temptations put in their way, via movies, TV and bad literature.

My friend and I came away feeling so good and wishing our young friends a great deal of good luck and happiness.

No Future

In a recent letter printed in the Montreal Gazette, Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin raised some important issues which vitally concern every Canadian. He wrote: "... the nasty, horrid military fact of the nuclear age is that a partial defence is no defence at all. Even after we get the 'Arrow' into service, if we ever do, we will still be wide open to devastation on a vast scale from nuclear missiles... We are pouring out money at a fantastic rate for an entirely illusory 'defence.' We are breaking our financial backs trying to turn our existing deterrent into a defence that is beyond the power of military experts, and scientists alike, to provide."

When will we face these facts? They apply not only to the "Arrow," but to the whole brittle structure of so-called "defence." Last week's public failure of the much-advertised "Bomarc" system to destroy a B-17 drone target in a pre-arranged test should surely make a few intelligent people realise how forlorn a hope is the "defence" provided by these fantastically expensive and hopelessly unreliable gadgets. How long will we continue to ruin our economy in producing mountains of costly junk which can never save our country from the destruction which threatens it?

In the present circumstances it is only Christian statesmanship of the very highest order which can save Canada. Our first objective as part of the free world must be to actively promote world peace. If only a small proportion of the money squandered on such mis-called "defence" had been applied towards the rehabilitation of Arab refugees, the crises of Suez and Lebanon may never have arisen.

Our second objective, as a sovereign nation, is to make sure that if efforts for peace should fail we shall not be dragged down in the general disaster. Why follow Dulles, Khrushchev, Macmillan and Mao over the brink? None of the "vital interests" of these countries are vital to Canada, and some of them are not even interesting. We are in grave danger of becoming involved in disaster provoked by strife which is none of our concern. It is surely obvious that there is ultimately no future in nuclear diplomacy. These nations which indulge in it have little survival-value however great they may appear today. What we are about to witness is a Judgement of the Nations. It is only those countries who retain their sanity, who reject nuclear weapons and whose armies exist to protect their own borders without threatening others, who will have any hope of continued life and freedom.

Let us pray that our Prime Minister may be granted the spiritual strength and moral courage required to steer a straight course between the devil of Communism and the deep sea of massive retaliation.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Pain of Cutting Losses

UNTIL the President went off to join the U.N. vaudeville in New York, the American National Security Council was engaged in something very like an agonizing reappraisal of our world policy and strategy.

There has never been a time when the gap was so wide between the governmental facade and the things going on behind the facade. The facade is the President, grandiosely presenting to the U.N. a Middle Eastern "peace plan," including the development scheme so ironically borrowed from Aneurin Bevan.

The reality is the secret huddle of high policy-makers, anxiously discussing how to avoid total catastrophe, not just in the Middle East, but also in the very heart of the Western alliance itself. For the policymakers know what they do not tell the country, that the rush of events in the Middle East will begin again, just as soon as the U.N. speech-making is over.

Real Question

The policy-makers know too that the real question raised by this rush of Middle Eastern events is the question, "What to do about Britain?" The second partner in the Western alliance is not just dependent on Middle Eastern oil; Britain's solvency is also directly dependent on Britain's ownership of the Middle Eastern oil sources.

The British, we may say, are like a family that not only needs water to live, but also gets a large share of the family income from the stock in the water company.

Britain cannot stay in business as the second partner in the Western alliance after sustaining the kind of loss that now threatens in the Middle East. The British divisions in NATO and many other vital contributions are quite directly at stake in the outcome.

All this was recognized in a grim presentation of the British situation Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson made to the huddled policy-makers.

Easy Way

The seemingly easy way out is for Britain to use military force if need be—and the need seems likely to arise—in order to hang on to the enormously rich, rather easily defensible oil sources in Kuwait and the other British protected sheikhdoms of the Persian Gulf.

But this expedient cannot possibly be adopted by the British without all-out American support, for obvious reasons of war-risk.

The expedient also has two further, vastly more important drawbacks. Any such despairing British move will actually strengthen Nasser greatly, by giving him a burning anti-Western reason that he can use to control the divisive forces in his growing empire.

It will also force Nasser to go beyond his present anti-Western but non-Communist policy. It will thrust him, in fact, straight into the Kremlin's waiting arms, with incalculable but surely evil consequences.

Such are the apparent alternatives: Doing nothing and risking British bankruptcy that will begin the break-up of the Western alliance; or backing the British in the Persian Gulf, and thus causing a war scare, defying large sectors of world opinion, actually strengthening Nasser, and making the Kremlin a free present of Nasser and his whole powerful movement.

Hideous Alternatives

Confronted by these hideous alternatives, most of the American policy-makers have been frozen into immobility.

However, a few on the lower levels have recalled the scheme put forward by George F. Kennan in 1949, for a special Anglo-American relationship that might also include Canada, Australia, and New Zealand.

There was no pompous constitution-making in Kennan's half-forgotten proposal. It envisaged military and political co-ordinating machinery, on the simple model of the old Combined Chiefs of Staff Committee.

It also envisaged economic machinery, perhaps in the form of a massive stabilization fund, that would maintain an agreed exchange rate between the dollar and the pound, thus freeing Britain from her eternal hard currency problem.

Avoid Choice

The minority recalling this plan of Kennan's points out that it would not only strengthen the core of the Western alliance. It would also free Britain and the United States from the need to make either of the horrible Middle Eastern choices above outlined. With British solvency no longer so dependent on shaky, neo-imperial positions in the Middle East, sensible, down-to-earth bargaining with Nasser and the Arab oil producers would at once become possible.

And after the U.S. and Britain have conceded so much, they would then be able to draw the desperately needed clear line, say at the Sudan and Libya, that Nasser must not pass without immediate war.

These are the advantages. The disadvantages are the cost, which would not be unbearably great, and above all the difficulty of taking such bold, imaginative action without admitting past errors. This second difficulty would be very great indeed. Cutting losses and making a sensible new start is always, alas, an extremely painful process.

Steri-Septic

STERI-SEPTIC is my latest word. I found it in Ladies' Lingerie. I can't say that I care for it, but I'll grant that it's exactly the word for the sort of world we live in.

Steri-septic means, you see, that the material of the garment has a built-in protection that will last the lifetime of the garment. (How long the garment will last, of course, is another question.)

But it's steri-septic, says the label, and positively prevents the growth of bacteria, fungi, or moulds. Frankly, I should have thought that washing the garment at proper intervals would have had the same effect. But doubtless that is a very old-fashioned, unsteri-septic view.

I must say, though, that in nearly 50 years of hectic modern living, I've never been seriously troubled by bacteria, fungi or moulds on my clothes. If a garment has looked a bit grubby, I've popped it in the washer, or sent it to the cleaners.

But, fooling apart, steri-septic belongs in the world of sanitized, deodorized, pressurized, tenderized, and—well, you complete the list.

To me, steri-septic belongs to an age when food is so purified and refined that what's been taken out of it has to be fed back to the consumers in the form of fancy pills and vitamins bought in drug stores at very fancy prices.

It belongs to an era in which Canada's third largest city dumps so much sewage on its beaches that no one can use them, and steri-septic people are too pure to turn the sewage into fertilizer to raise the productivity of the fast-disappearing agricultural land.

(Anybody knows what the Milwaukee Sewerage Commission does. Anybody ever thought of what those "backward" Oriental countries do? Not likely. We're too steri-septic.)

Steri-septic belongs to the world of television legs and daylong protection for the armpt. (That's a rather wild statement, but maybe I can make it stick!)

Finally, steri-septic belongs to the really crazy world where bright young men with PhDs work in multi-million labs and offices. Some of them are working to build better nuclear weapons. Others are working to produce radiation pills which will partially counteract the effects of the nuclear weapons. (Sit up in your steri-septic nightgown, dear, and take your radiation pill.)

Ah well, keep the consumer fussing about fungus on his underwear and the thought of the mushroom cloud won't trouble his steri-septic mind!

LONDON LETTER

Duelling With Corks

LONDON—At Oxford two students have fought what has been described as Britain's oddest duel.

Over a question of honor they lined up at 10 paces on the lawns of one of the women's colleges. Each was armed with three bottles of champagne and fired the corks at each other, the first to score a hit winning the duel and the other having to pay for the champagne.

To most people this would sound like a novelty. But to those of us who were with the First Canadian Division in Italy during the recent unpleasantness it is old stuff.

When the First Division was chasing the Germans up the toe of Italy (trying to find some) we paused for a while at a place called Potenza.

The war correspondents attached to the division included Ralph Allen, now editor of Maclean's, Greg Clark, who must surely now be qualifying as the grand old man of Canadian journalism, and two who are no longer with us, Fred Griffin and Matt Halton.

As accommodation, we took over a hunting lodge on the outskirts of the town which had formerly been one of Mussolini's holiday retreats.

One day while jeeping across the town to see what was happening at the front we were stopped on the road by a couple of lads of the West Nova Scotia Regiment. Not to put too fine a point on it, they were feeling no pain.

By WALLACE REYBURN

They told us happily that the building by the road was a champagne warehouse which the West Novies had "liberated" and they were on guard duty at the premises. We were not allowed to proceed until our jeeps were laden with generous samples of Nova Scotia hospitality.

The Italian version of champagne is called asti spumante and when we got back to the lodge we tried some of the Potenza brew. It was well named. Potenza being Italian for "potency." I've never struck anything that made such a powerful bid to get out of the bottle, whether it be champagne, home-brew or a coke that's been lying in the sun.

When you unleashed the wire from around the cork there was a sharp explosion, the cork shot out like a bullet and a gray plume of what looked like smoke from a six-shooter spiraled from the bottle top.

We found that with no trouble at all we could send a cork clean over the roof of the single-story lodge and this led to a competition. Standing in a row with asti spumante bottles at the ready, we'd fire them off and see who could fetch the longest distance. Greg Clark, acknowledged cork-popping champion, achieved 24 yards.

At night in the lodge we evolved a form of billiards in which we would aim a bottle at a wall and see who could score the biggest carom off walls and ceiling.

The only thing we didn't do was fight duels, like the Oxford students, the war correspondents being such an amiable, friendly crowd.

The Day YOU Were Born

Mrs. Ann E. Grant, 1247 Beach Drive, celebrated her birthday Sunday. No doubt some of her 43 direct descendants helped her celebrate the occasion. She lives in a pretty cottage on the edge of the sea, by herself. Mrs. Grant is the oldest daughter of the late David Spencer.

On the day she was born, The Earl and Countess Dufferin were visiting Victoria.

Gentlemen of the press accompanying the vice-regal suite included: Molyneux St. John of The Toronto Globe, E. Horton of The Toronto Mail and J. Stillson of The New York World.

A group of citizens petitioned that "Mrs. Grant motto, 'Empress of India' be removed from the arches erected in honor of the Governor-General.

"The title 'Empress of India' is repugnant to the feeling of many British subjects," said the petition in part.

His Excellency refused to pass beneath another arch which bore the words: "The Carnarvon Terms or Separation."

Turkey was reported successful in her plan of campaign against Serbia and Montenegro and Mahomet Pasha with 20,000 men advanced to Kuci in Montenegro. A proclamation from Constantinople invited the Servians to submit and "promised protection to all peaceable inhabitants and their property."

What happened the day YOU were born?

If your birthday occurs within the next four weeks, send your name, address and birth date to "Eventful Birthdays," c/o The Times. The first one received for any one day will be used.

STUDY OF FAMILY RELATIONS

Top Festival Award Won by Indian Film

VANCOUVER (CP)—Judges of the Vancouver International Film Festival gave top prize for feature-length films Saturday to an Indian film, and honorary mentions to entries from Russia and France.

More than 300 films from 28 countries were entered in the two-week festival, which drew some 20,000 persons. One hundred films were selected for public viewing.

The movie "Pather Panchali" (Song of the Road), produced and directed in India, was a black-and-white study of family relations. It earned top award among feature films.

Russia's version of the Cervantes classic, "Don Quixote," and the French entry, "Porte des Lilas," were given special mentions.

The National Film Board production, "City of Gold," won the top prize for documentaries, and Japan's "Little Black Sambo," was adjudged the best children's film.

The film "Onion Johnnie," an entry from Great Britain, won first place in the list of television films.

HELD AT GUNPOINT

Prison Rioters Burn Buildings

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Sixty screaming prisoners rioted through nearby Collins Bay Penitentiary Sunday, setting fires that destroyed three buildings and badly damaged several others.

They were halted when a guard, crouching behind a lumber pile, shot and wounded one of the leaders as they attempted to storm the kitchen.

Damage was estimated by Warden Viktor Richmond at $65,000. Two men were injured, neither severely.

Warden Richmond said the reason for the riot is unknown. He speculated it was an incident marking the anniversary of a similar riot at Kingston Penitentiary Aug. 15, 1954.

SHOT IN LEG

Prisoner Lawrence Labelle, 23, of Ottawa, serving five years for attempted armed robbery, breaking and entering and theft, was shot in the leg. Guard Vincent Kelly was treated in hospital for head injuries suffered when clubbed by a rioter.

Destroyed by flames were a two-storey wooden dormitory that housed 48 prisoners, a punishment building known as The Hole and a shed. The Hole, able to accommodate six men, was empty at the time.

A concrete electrical shop, a concrete paint shop, carpentry shop and a dormitory were badly damaged.

The warden, who was in Toronto when the riot began, credited Guard D. S. Patterson with preventing the rioters from doing more damage. Patterson, armed with a rifle, saw the men heading for the kitchen and waited for them behind some lumber.

'Tex' Crosby Arrives Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Crosby family left Queen of the Angels Hospital Saturday amid the flash of photographers' lights.

Harry Lillis Crosby III, 8 days old and now weighing 7 pounds, 13 ounces, was taken to the Crosby's Holmby Hills home by papa Bing and mama Kathy Grant Crosby. Bing nicknamed his son "Tex."

A reporter asked how many more children they would like and Mrs. Crosby said: "As many as God will give us." She said she plans to resume her acting career soon.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

First of Fall Shows Saturday

The penetrating richness of ripe blackberries spells fall to me. Each year finds essential garden work shelved for a few hours while I gather these favorite fruits and make them into jelly for winter.

It's just as well they begin ripening before the fall flower and vegetable shows, especially this year with shows being scheduled earlier than usual.

The first of the fall shows and fairs brought to my attention is on James Island, Saturday of this week, Aug. 23.

Sponsored by the James Island Parent-Teacher Association, this event is the second flower and vegetable show by this group, but the first complete fall fair.

The ambitious schedule of classes materialized as early as March, so that the exhibitors in all departments will have had sufficient time for preparation.

Some of us think we have endured gardening difficulties grappling with obstinate soil in spring and water restrictions during the hot summer. The folks on James Island seem to overcome worse than these in the form of porous sandy soil and a water supply which usually brings some sea water with it during summer.

In spite of these obstacles, the results last year were amazing to my husband Jack and myself. We went over on an invitation, and again this year we are pleased to accept.

We've been nicknamed "the grandparents of the show" since we were brash enough to suggest one after our first gardening talk on the island.

We wish James Island PTA all success in their endeavor, and extend similar good wishes to other organizations in small communities who are doing so much to foster and maintain the spirit of good-neighborliness.

Livingstone captures Midget Car Main Event. If prizes were awarded for consistency, Seattle's Bob Gregg might have been the big winner at Saturday's midget auto race meet at Western Speedway.

But this time, consistency failed to pay off. Gregg finished second in the three main races at the B.C. Centennial championship meet.

He came in behind Gerry Lindquest of Seattle in the trophy dash and then finished in the runner-up spot behind Portland's Gord Livingstone in both the fast heat and main event.

Livingstone, pulling into the lead at the 22nd lap, held off Gregg's late challenge to win the main event after the three waged a brilliant duel over most of the route.

A turnout of 3,463 witnessed the 14-car meeting.

Trophy dash—1. Gerry Lindquest; 2. Bob Gregg; 3. Gord Livingstone.

First heat—1. Gord Livingstone; 2. Bob Gregg; 3. Gerry Lindquest.

Second heat—1. Bill Maynor; 2. Mike Urrup; 3. Ken McGlocklin.

Third heat—1. Jack Carley; 2. Johnny Moutart; 3. Buck Lawrence.

Main event—1. Gord Livingstone; 2. Bob Gregg; 3. Gerry Lindquest.

Leos and Records Topple in Opener

VANCOUVER (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders tamed British Columbia Lions 49-33 Saturday night, with a deadly aerial attack that produced the highest-scoring game in the history of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Frank Tripucka, Saskatchewan quarterback, was in top throwing form for the game, the first of the 1958 regular season for both teams. The crowd of 30,468 was the biggest to see a league game in Canada. The previous record of 30,374 was set here Aug. 27, 1956.

Both teams are in action tonight. Lions are at Calgary against the Stampede and Riders meet the Eskimos at Edmonton.

Tripucka hit three receivers with touchdown passes and set up three other touchdowns with a miss.

In addition to Bailey, B.C. touchdown scorers were Canadian fullback Sonny Homer and guard Bob Brady. Ted Hunt kicked three converts.

INTERCEPTS PASS
Brady's touchdown came after he intercepted a Tripucka pass at the Saskatchewan 20-yard line early in the second quarter, and galloped across.

Tripucka outpassed B.C. quarterback George Herring by nearly 100 yards, 291 to 197, even though the Lions picked up 26 first downs to Saskatchewan's 23.

The Lions made the same number of yards running as they did through the air—197. Saskatchewan gained only 165 yards along the ground.

Tripucka completed 12 of 19 passes. Herring completed 13 of 22.

Murder Suspect Caught After Fleeing to U.S.

'FALSE LEAD' CASE PUT OVER

PENTICTON (CP) — The trial of Frank McDonald, charged with creating a public nuisance in connection with the search for Donald Stevens more than a week ago, was adjourned here Saturday until Aug. 20.

McDonald allegedly gave police false leads during the search for the wanted man. Bail of $3,000 set for McDonald has not been posted.

TONASKET, Wash. (AP)—Red-haired Donald G. Stevens, object of an intense 12-day manhunt in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley, was wounded and captured here Saturday after an unsuccessful attempt to elude an international posse.

Stevens, sought in the murder of a woman and the wounding of an RCMP constable, was shot twice as he was surrounded by Canadian and American officers in a brushy swamp near this town 65 miles south of Penticton, B.C. One bullet fractured his left hip, another creased his scalp.

From his hospital bed here Stevens told police Sunday he was an escapee from mental institutions in Oregon and Pennsylvania.

Police Chief Lloyd Etchison of Tonasket said Stevens claimed to have escaped from a mental institution in Portland, Ore., in 1944. The story was being checked.

Etchison also said he believes Stevens, 34, is an American citizen.

Denies Slaying Woman in Okanagan

Stevens was sought by Canadian police in connection with the slaying of a woman fruit picker, Anita Budde, 28, at Kaleden, B.C., Aug. 3.

Atchison said Stevens denied any connection with the slaying. The transient worker is also charged with the attempted murder of RCMP Corporal Ralph Brown the day following the slaying. Brown said he was shot when he stopped Stevens at a roadblock.

The 12-day Okanagan search at times involved upwards of 100 RCMP officers, several tracking dogs and a plane.

Three RCMP officers were killed when their light plane crashed while taking part in the search.

Judge Auguste Delveaux of Tonasket gave this account of the capture.

Saturday morning a Canadian border patrolman spotted Stevens in a Tonasket store buying groceries. The patrolman took him into custody.

The patrolman started driving towards the Canadian border with Stevens. Shortly after leaving Tonasket, Stevens asked the patrolman to stop so he could pick up a satchel from a cabin in an orchard where he had been working.

JUMPS FROM CAR

The patrolman took the satchel and opened it as Stevens got into the back seat of the patrol car. While the patrolman was looking through the satchel, Stevens slipped out the other side of the car and made a successful dash to nearby brush as the patrolman fired two shots at him.

Later, four carloads of RCMP, aided by Washington State patrolmen, Okanagan County sheriff's officers and Tonasket police, surrounded Stevens in the willow swamp.

MONTE ROBERTS

I am in the doghouse with the cat. And I have been going around, telling people I am in the doghouse with the cat, and seeking sympathy. But I do not get sympathy from anyone, because everyone tells me it is nothing unusual for people to be in the doghouse with a cat. Cats, it appears, are forever putting people in the doghouse for various reasons. But the biggest reason for a cat putting a person in the doghouse appears to be the fact the cat gets jealous. Which, it seems, is why I am in the doghouse with the cat. The cat I refer to, of course, is the small female-type feline who lives at our house, namely, Little Miss Muffet. Up until four days ago, one of Muffet's nightly routines was an hour or so snoozing on my knee, a routine to which, I must confess, I looked forward. But last week my brand new granddaughter was brought over for a visit. And I was allowed to hold the brand new granddaughter on my knee. A perfectly innocent and harmless incident, one would think. But so happened that Muffet wandered into the room while granddaughter was on knee. And Muffet walked over to my chair, saw someone else in her accustomed place, and stalked over carrying her tail like a battle ensign. Since that evening, the cat will have nothing to do with my lap. Granddaughter was over again on Saturday, and this time I was careful to stay well away from her, and to attempt to make a great fuss over the cat. Muffet, however, would have no part of the proceedings, and hid in the top corner of the bedroom cupboard. The only time the cat tolerates me at all is at meal times, and she is very much on her dignity even then. I tell you, it is very trying to be in the doghouse with the cat, and the least people could do would be spare me a little sympathy, instead of just saying "cats are LIKE that."

of the building at 2 a.m. today. Heavy branches caused the only damage as they thudded onto the roof smashing window frames and spreading glass fragments throughout the bedrooms. Inspecting the damage are Ald. Elmer McEwen and an unidentified bystander.—(Times photo by Irving Strickland).

SHAKEN BUT UNHURT is Mrs. Frank Moss, Suite 10, 895 Heywood Ave., who was covered with glass and wood splinters when a tree fell against the building at 2 this morning. Drawn blinds and curtains saved Mrs. Moss and her husband from more serious injury.

Forest Fire Hazard Drops As Clouds, Rain Nearing

Forest fire hazard has dropped to "moderate" in portions of the Vancouver Forest District, and approaching clouds and possible rain may bring an end to the present restricted industrial closure in effect in the district woods. "It likely will be up for review later in the week," a forest service spokesman said. "Meanwhile, the public should remember that all campfire permits are suspended under the closure." The weatherman predicted sunny skies with occasional clouds for Tuesday, with temperatures between 55 and 68 degrees, and rain in the northern coastal area. Here on Vancouver Island the forest fire situation is well under control, with all fires contained and high humidity at night helping to keep them in hand. NO NEW FIRES Men are still "mopping up" on the Goldstream fire, which covered approximately 100 acres, and there were no new fires on the weekend. The Butte Lake fire is on a patrol basis, and likely will continue to burn until the next period of heavy rain, a forester said. RCMP said today they expected no charges would be laid against a man questioned in connection with the fire on the Malahat that covered one acre at Spectacle Lake. A fire in the vicinity of Chipmunk Creek near Chilliwack still out of control, has covered 5,000 acres and now is burning in mature timber. An effort is being made to put guards the full way around the blaze, which is at the 3,000-foot level in mountainous terrain. 500 FIREFIGHTERS There were five new fires on the weekend in the Vancouver district, making a total of 50 burning. There are 500 firefighters on the job. Largest fire in the Nelson district is the 5,000-acre blaze at Krestova, where four incendiary fires joined. Another incendiary fire that started Sunday was extinguished after burning over five acres.

LONGSHOREMEN TAKING STRIKE VOTE TONIGHT

Some 1,300 British Columbia longshoremen, including 200 in Victoria, will begin voting tonight and Tuesday on whether to strike in support of their demand for a 6 1/2-cent-an-hour wage boost. The decision to hold the vote came after they rejected a conciliation board recommendation that they accept a 10-cent increase in the $2.57 hourly wage. A strike would affect deep-sea shipping in Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Chemainus docks, and be the first in British Columbia involving longshoremen since 1935.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. We are informed the Community Chest is a U.S. organization with headquarters in New York. Is this correct? N.N. A. There is no connection whatsoever between Community Chest fund raising campaigns in Canada and similar drives in the U.S. The confusion may arise because the red feather is used in some U.S. areas as it is in Canada as a symbol of united appeals. Q. A youth of 19 who does not know where to contact either parent, has no legal guardian, and is self-supporting wants to know if he can get married. Can he? H.P.T. A. He can, with the consent of the court. He would be best advised to contact a county court judge and explain his case, as according to law a male under 21 is a minor. Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to "Ask the Times" Editor. Question and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve comedowns or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

LUCKY THAT SIX PEOPLE WEREN'T KILLED'

Huge Oak Crashes on Apartment Building

By MICHAEL ROSE
Death missed six Victorians by scant inches early this morning when a massive oak crashed on an apartment building in the 2 a.m. darkness. "The city is lucky that six people were not killed," said F. Vincent Rush, 1221 Old Esquimalt Road, owner of the block at 895 Heywood Ave. Shards of glass and wood splinters from smashed windows covered the beds of sleeping residents 11r. and Mrs. Frank Moss, Suite 10, and Mrs. John Hening, Suite 12, as the big tree slammed into the side of the building, its huge limbs tearing window frames from the wall. Force of the blow was dissipated by the main trunk falling at an angle to the building, and comparatively minor damage resulted to the roof and sides. City park officials said that there was no indication above ground that the rot condition existed in the roots. "We have spent a fair amount of money on that tree already and it was limbed to remove top weight two years ago." The tree was located at the corner of Heywood and Rupert where work was completed recently on widening and resurfacing the road and curb. "I had hoped that they would take the tree out," said Mr. Rush. "Friends of residents noticed it was splitting open two weeks ago." Parks officials said that it had been a "tough year because of dessication and dryness."

TOURIST HURT, 'SEEING-EYE' DOG UNWANTED

A blind American has had the shock of his life in dog-loving Victoria, the only city in his travels that has ever tried to shut the door on his seeing-eye dog. Henry A. Young, a blind San Francisco investment counselor, expressed shock at the number of restaurants that have been unwilling to let him enter because he was accompanied by his dog—one of the famous trained German Shepherd guides for the blind. Since coming here Friday for a visit, Mr. Young has had difficulty obtaining a meal in a restaurant, accomplished only after detailed explanations that his dog must go everywhere with him. He also had to make a direct appeal to the management of the Empress Hotel to obtain a room. He was barred from the registration desk until an assistant manager finally lent a sympathetic ear and allowed him to register.

Arbitration Coming For CPR—Mediator

Two Unions Agree But SIU Balks as Talks Break Down

Canadian Pacific steamship's dispute with three seamen's unions must now go to arbitration, federal mediator Eric Taylor said Sunday. He made the statement shortly before the CPR revealed that two of the unions had agreed to join the company in asking for a federal arbitration board. The Merchant Service Guild and Marine Engineers had agreed, but that the Seafarers' International Union had refused. Mr. Taylor said he had managed to get 26 matters settled, but could not bring the parties together on wages, overtime and the date from which the company's contribution to welfare plans should be effective. "These issues just couldn't be resolved," Mr. Taylor said, "because the company could not adopt any attitude different from the one it took formerly." He said the next step would be arbitration, "either compulsory or voluntary." Arbitration, if company-union talks failed, was one of the provisions of the federal government's emergency legislation passed July 25 which ordered the striking crews back to work under the authority of a federal administrator. 'LAST RESORT' The measure empowers the federal cabinet, as a last resort, to appoint a board of arbitration to lay down final and binding terms for a settlement. The CPR urged Saturday that the three unions should join the company in "a joint and voluntary request" for a federal government arbitration board. Said a spokesman, "It has been possible to dispose of some of the items in the dispute, but issues involving wages and overtime are outstanding and so we suggest they be arbitrated."

Mrs. Clegg later made it big day with 24 1/4-pounder. (Belcher's photo).

Car Sustains $500 Damage Jumped Ditch

Motorist Eugene Muzsi, 86 Dallas, received only a slight ear cut but his car sustained an estimated $500 damage when it went out of control and overturned in a field off Patricia Bay Highway at 11:45 p.m. Saturday. Central Saanich police said Muzsi was driving south on the highway near Telegraph Road and lost control on a curve. The car jumped a ditch and fence before it upset, police said. The driver was alone at the time. Victor Hazell, 47, of 1217 Vista Heights, was treated for a leg injury and discharged from Jubilee Hospital after the motorcycle he was riding was in collision at Kings and Quadra with a car driven by Darlene Ann Taylor, 2637 Graham, at 3 p.m. Saturday. Two girls, Jean Davis, of Royal Oak, and Beverly Baratta, 3263 Alder, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, with bumped heads after the car in which they were riding was in a rear-end collision at Douglas and Herald at 7:25 p.m. Saturday. Drivers were identified as George Grant, 422 Spanton, and Robert L. Hall, 2614 Quadra.

BREAD AND BUTTER NOTES: My daughter, who is 18, was invited by her boy friend's mother to spend a few days at their summer cottage. She went, but apparently she had a quarrel with the boy and has said very little about the visit. She has implied that the family didn't treat her very well, but I don't know why. She will not talk to me about it. After she came home, she and the boy made up. It has been a month since the visit. I keep reminding her about not writing a bread-and-butter letter, but she hasn't done it yet. Rather than let any more time go by, would it be all right if I write instead?

Louise Davis Answers: Your daughter accepted the hospitality of the young man's mother and it is very important that she, not you, write a note of appreciation. It is a natural duty, even if there is animosity and even if she and the boy quarreled. It isn't logical that the mother would give your daughter such a cordial invita-

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Reader Pulled Out of Deep Depression With Marathon

For a few days I am printing letters from Marathon winners. I think you will find them heart warming and interesting. As most of you know I run my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon each January. Listen to this one if you doubt that appearance has a strong effect on personality and even on happiness.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: Let it suffice to say that I had been in a state of deep depression for more than a year. I will not go into the details but I had one hard experience after another. I had severe financial reverses, critical illness, and worst of all, the one I loved best in the world. I barely recovered from one blow when another fell. I really think I was close to a nervous breakdown.

"I had always been a happy person with no personality problems. However, I found myself absolutely unable to pull myself out of the bog of depression which finally hit me. I realized that I was deteriorating in personality and that I was allowing myself to become unattractive physically. My friends kept begging me to snap out of it. Somehow nothing seemed worth the effort.

Then last January I read about your Marathon in "Why Grow Old?" After reading the first column I took a real good honest look at myself in the mirror. What I saw horrified me. I was plain fat. I weighed and found that I had gained 20 pounds in one year. Instead of being well groomed, my hair was stringy. I needed a permanent badly and had not been to a beauty parlor for months. I looked years older in the face. Everything about me drooped, even my posture.

"The second day I read your column about Marathon and looked at myself in the mirror again. The third day I sent for your booklet. You mentioned the fact that when one is depressed, physical self-improvement is the first step to take. I thought 'I can do that for just eight weeks.'

"I lost my 20 pounds and many inches and have begun to take an interest again in the way I look. I still have a long way to go but life begins to seem possible again. I have taken the step which I believe will enable me to salvage myself. Need I tell you how grateful I am?"

You can imagine how soul satisfying this letter is to me. It is a well known psychological fact that in illness or disturbed personalities when the patient starts taking an interest in her appearance, that is a sure sign of beginning recovery.

Even though you have not had bad times and are not depressed, a loss of unwanted pounds, improvement in measurements and complexion and hair can give your life a pickup and make you feel and look younger. It also will affect your personality and your outlook.

If you missed Marathon in January and would like to have the 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for this booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Cruise to Highlight Reunion of Wrens

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Wrens are coming to town for a big reunion. Officials of the 1958 reunion of the girls who wore the navy blue during the war said at least 300 are expected from across Canada for the three-day shindig here Aug. 22-24.

Many will be bringing with them the husbands and families they have acquired since the war.

The program is mainly social, with dances a Chinatown tour, teas and dinners. And on Aug. 23 the ex-navy girls will taste their wartime life again with a cruise aboard Canadian naval ships.

Girls Would Like School Uniform

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—About 75 per cent of girls attending the Sault Collegiate Institute would like a school uniform, although the boys are opposed to the idea.

This was revealed in a survey inaugurated by Miss G. Forbes, who suggested a school uniform after she had taught in a Scottish school for a year.

Girls at the school held a fashion show to examine possible styles, and some have even bought uniforms of their own.

The education board has a rule that no non-private high school may make uniforms compulsory.

No. 3 in a series on tobacco research

The International Cancer Congress and Cigarette Smoking

On July 6-12th. in London, England, 2,000 scientists from 63 countries attending the 7th. International Cancer Congress — an event held every four years — were given the latest data on cancer and smoking by the world's foremost cancer experts. Rothmans Research scientists were also there and have examined the papers submitted along with their own findings.

SINCE THE publication on June 23rd. of the first in this series of research announcements, there has been widespread interest shown in the Canadian press and smokers have asked for more information. Here is a brief summary of the facts as they stand today:-

1. Rothmans Research Division accepts the statistical evidence linking lung cancer with heavy smoking. This is done as a precautionary measure in the interest of smokers.

2. The exact biological relationship between smoking and cancer in mankind is still not known and a direct link has not been proved.

3. In research laboratory work, inhalation studies on animals have been largely negative. However, the application of tobacco tar on the skin of certain animals has produced cancer and therefore indicates that tobacco smoke condensate contains carcinogenic substances which are at least active to those animals.

4. The suspected chemicals in tobacco smoke that have produced cancer in animals have been identified. In fractionation studies, the majority of the active carcinogenic agents were located in the fraction which is eluted with carbon tetrachloride from the neutral tar. This fraction represents only 1.7% of total tobacco tar and, when applied in the heavy concentration of 10%, produced 100% cancer on animal skin.

5. Further studies were then conducted to determine whether there was a threshold level at which total tobacco tar would not produce cancer on animal skin. It was discovered that there was a dose level at which the development of animal cancer was so small, and the latent period before the formation of tumours so long, that for all material purposes it represented a threshold level. This minimum level is about one-third the optimum level.

6. Transposing this data to cigarette smoking, an increasing section of scientific opinion believes that if the tar intake from a single cigarette were reduced to the range of 18 to 20 milligrams (mgs.), there would be a significant reduction in the possible risk of lung cancer. Most of the world's cigarettes today yield in the vicinity of 30 mgs. and there are many which exceed 40 mgs.

N.B. The control at 18-20 mgs. of the tar intake from a single Rothmans King Size cigarette is achieved as follows:-

- (i) the use of tobaccos of lower tar content,
- (ii) the fitting of an effective filter which reduces further, and in correct proportion, the amount of tar entering the mouth and lungs, and
- (iii) the stubbing out of the butt of a cigarette equivalent to about one-third of its total length (for which purpose the extra length of Rothmans King Size is provided).

The balance between satisfaction, filtration and ease of draw is constantly checked by scientific instruments.

7. There are no scientific grounds to justify the reduction of tar in a single cigarette to less than 18-20 mgs., except in the case of very heavy smokers of more than 2 packs (40 cigarettes) a day.

N.B. To such smokers Rothmans advocates moderation.

Reducing the tars in cigarettes to the level of 18-20 mgs. does not affect the pleasure of smoking. Indeed, once people have smoked such cigarettes, they find satisfaction and enjoyment in the cleaner smoke. Below 18-20 mgs., tobacco begins markedly to lose its taste and aroma, and there would be less and less satisfaction as the readings drop.

8. Unburned tobacco contains no cancer forming agents. They are formed only during combustion. Any plant material sets free cancer forming agents when burned at a high temperature. (If lettuce were smoked, the result would be the same.)

From about the middle of a cigarette length to the butt, the temperature reaches 880°C. ($\pm 30^\circ\text{C}$). When this temperature is reduced below 700°C., the biological activity on the skin of animals is reduced to almost nil.

As a further precautionary measure, research projects on this problem include the search for a chemical to make tobacco burn at a lower temperature.

N.B. The present straight virginia manufacturing process as used by Rothmans employs no chemicals whatsoever. Nor would any chemicals be used unless a direct biological link (as distinct from a statistical link) makes it necessary to treat tobacco with such a catalyst.

9. Some statistical studies indicate a higher mortality rate from lung cancer among cigarette smokers than among smokers of cigars and pipes. However, in laboratory experiments, the carcinogenic activity from cigar and pipe smoke was found to be greater than in cigarette smoke, because, burning at a high temperature for a longer time, combustion is more complete in cigars and in pipes.

10. The tobacco-cancer problem is difficult and nebulous. It has brought forth many conflicting theories and evidences. But great knowledge and a better understanding have been gained through research. The controversy is a matter of public interest. The tar contents of the world's leading brands of cigarettes are today under the scrutiny of medical and independent research.

A list of cigarettes, some of which have achieved significant tar reductions of up to 40% in the past year, was tabled at the International Cancer Congress by an eminent cancer expert.

N.B. The performance of Canadian made Rothmans King Size cigarettes (as previously certified by independent research) showed that:-

Rothmans King Size Filter yields from 14.4% to 38.7% less tars than the four other best selling Filter brands in Canada.

Rothmans King Size Untipped yields from 26.5% to 34.0% less tars than the three best known plain end brands in Canada.

ROTHMANS Research Division welcomes this opportunity to reiterate its pledge:-

- (1) to continue its policy of all-out research,
- (2) to impart vital information as soon as available, and
- (3) to give smokers of Rothmans cigarettes improvements as soon as they are developed.

In conclusion, as with all the good things of modern living, Rothmans believes that with moderation smoking can remain one of life's simple and safe pleasures.

What Is An Ohm?

The ohm is a unit of measurement used in electricity. The force which sends the electricity streaming through the wire circuit is measured in volts. The amount of current is measured in amperes. But the metal wires offer resistance to the electric current passing through them. This resistance is measured in ohms.

Let's say our electric toaster has a resistance of 22 ohms when the circuit is powered by 110 volts. The current used will be five amperes—the number of volts divided by the number of ohms. The ohm unit is the resistance in the wires to one ampere of electricity powered by one volt. This unit is the absolute ohm used to figure the work ability of electrical gadgets.

The giant electricity was being tamed at the beginning of the last century. It began with small experiments which seemed like parlor games. Even the first electric battery seemed to be no more than a toy. This battery was built by Alessandro Volte of Italy. The volt is named in his honor.

Andre Ampere, of France, discovered that there was a mysterious relationship between magnetism and an electric current. The ampere is named in his honor. Then Georg Simon Ohm, a German, discovered that substances put up a resistance to the electric current passing through them. The ohm, unit of electrical resistance, was named in his honor. The faraday and the watt were named for famous English electrical experimenters. For it needed the best brains of many countries to tame this giant we know as electricity.

Ohm and Volt Reciprocal

Ohm discovered that this resistance to electric current varies. Voltage power increases the current in a circuit and the ohm resistance decreases it. The thickness and length of wires increase the resistance and decrease the current.

Let's imagine a wire $\frac{1}{2}$ of an inch and a wire $\frac{1}{4}$ of an inch thick, both carrying electric current. The ohm resistance is three times greater in every foot of the thicker wire—for it is three times as thick. On the other hand, the resistance in three feet of the thinner wire is equal to that in one foot of the thicker wire.

In 1827 Ohm defined this in the law of electrical energy named for him. The electric current is proportional to the voltage and inversely proportional to the resistance. The current, then, equals the voltage divided by the ohms, or units of resistance. The ohms equal the voltage divided by the current.

In terms of energy, the ohm releases .24 calories of heat. This is equal to one joule of work. To get this much energy one ampere must pass through the resistance of one ohm for one second. Let's say a heating coil with a 2-ohm resistance is powered by 12 volts. The current will be 6 amperes and the heat energy released will be about 3 calories per second.

Island 4-H Clubs Set Entry Record

NANAIMO (CP) — There was a record number of entries from Vancouver Island 4-H Clubs during the Fall Fair here.

More than 200 entries from Nanaimo, Cedar, Duncan, Port Alberni, Courtenay, Comox, Sidney, Saanich and Cobble Hill, among other Island centres, shared the more than $1,000 in prizes.

Lloyd Hammond, exhibition assistant 4-H chairman, described the show as a "very considerable success."

From the fair here, these clubs won the right to represent the Island at the forthcoming Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver: Cedar Holstein, Comox Lamb, Comox Calf, Cobble Hill Beef, Cowichan Holstein, Port Alberni Holstein, Port Alberni Chicken, Sidney, Sooke and Saanich Beef; Saanich Jersey, Saanich Holstein; Saanich Goat, Royal Oak Handicraft, and Cedar Handicraft.

BRADDOCK WINS TROPHY

Arthur D. Braddock of Nanaimo won the Kiwanis Club trophy at the fair for his display of vegetables in the agricultural section, and the City of Nanaimo trophy for total points in the whole horticultural section.

Other winners, announced on the weekend, were as follows: Mrs. E. Nichols, Howard Avenue, Nanaimo, Rotary Club trophy for flower display.

Andrew Phillips, Cowichan Station, Dalry's Ltd. award as best junior in horticultural section. Mrs. E. S. Edwards, Drake Street, Nanaimo, Simpson-Sears Ltd. trophy in domestic science class. Mrs. C. R. McDuff, Regina, T. Eaton Co. trophy for needlecraft. Jeanne Higgins, Parkville, Whittlingham & Martin Ltd. trophy, junior domestic science and needlecraft. Nanaimo Horticultural Society, Kinsmen and Wills & Bradshaw trophies for floral displays.

Two Offers On Yard Site Turned Down

A meeting between Saanich council and representatives of two firms which want to purchase the Douglas Street municipal yard site, will be held Wednesday at the Royal Oak municipal hall.

The firms are W. H. Malkin Co. Ltd., which has offered $92,500 for the five-acre site and promised to build a $750,000 shopping centre, and Dominion Construction which offered $50,000, but planned a $2,000,000 development.

Both offers were turned down by Saanich council until a further study was made.

Conversion Of War Bonds Nets $2,000

DUNCAN — North Cowichan municipality will gain about $2,000 through conversion of war bonds worth $118,500, Reeve C. A. P. Morrison told council.

He said he had given the treasurer authority to make the conversion.

By keeping the bonds to maturity the municipality would realize $600, he said, while the conversion will give a yield of $2,500.

The mute swan of Britain's ornamental gardens is supposed to have been brought to England by Richard I from the Crusades.

VOTE WINNER GETS BOAT TOO

DUNCAN — Winner of an 18-foot cruiser and trailer in a Duncan Rotary Club draw Friday was Esquimalt Councilor F. Vincent Rush, 1221 Esquimalt Road.

He was elected in a by-election last month.

Why I Support Community Chest

By DAVID COWLISHAW

Walking around Victoria with an anxious expression on his face these days is Brian Tobin.

Mr. Tobin, 48, is the Community Chest's budget chairman and it will be his job and that of his committee in January to look at the money raised in the Sept.-Oct. campaign and figure out which agencies will be "chopped" and by how much.

'CHOPS' THREATEN

Of course, if the contributions tot up to $300,000 all of the 20 participating agencies will get the slices of the Chest pie that they are asking for; but, understandably, Mr. Tobin is gloomy.

"In the past we've had to whittle down the charity payments every year," he said, "simply because the money didn't come in as we expected."

"It's tragic. We have had to take $1,000 off here, $500 off there. It's not a pleasant job, I can tell you, and I hope it will not be necessary this year."

Should it be necessary? "Well, no," the budget chairman replied. "The money is in Victoria, we know that, and there's no reason why the target should not be reached."

"We are not overdoing it by asking for $300,000. Victoria can well afford to spend that much money on charity—in fact, when you look at the results of Chest drives in other cities it's obvious there's no reason why we shouldn't go over the top."

Mr. Tobin said there is bound to be "some suffering" if each charity discovers it must face the coming year with not enough cash in the kitty.

"Also, the population of Greater Victoria is getting bigger," he noted, "so there's more need."

But if Mr. Tobin is realistic, Chest accountant Art Goff is gay.

"What's Brian so melancholy about?" he asked. "The campaign is already a month ahead of schedule. We'll get that $300,000, never fear."

"We have a very strong and

Salt Spring's Derby Finds Fishing Poor

Rich Harvesting Of Coho Salmon

Salmon trollers on the west coast of Vancouver Island are making up to $200 per day as a result of the best coho salmon run since 1945.

Fisheries officials cannot explain the good run except to say it may be a combination of a good spawning year and exceptional feeding conditions.

The 400 salmon trollers are catching close to 600 pounds of fish per day, and the same number of American fishermen are doing as well beyond the three-mile limit.

It is expected the run will reach Juan de Fuca Strait shortly as the fish make their way to mainland and east coast spawning streams.

'Don't Strike'
IWA Tells Men

By DAVID COWLISHAW

British Columbia's 28,000 woodworkers have been urged by their leaders not to strike for higher pay but to accept the no-increase peace terms offered Sunday by provincial government forestry advisor Gordon Sloan.

Voting began today and the result is expected to be known by Aug. 25.

Mr. Sloan's formula for settlement, reached after two weeks of talks with the International Woodworkers of America in B.C. and officials representing 148 coast operators, recommends that the present wage scale be extended for another year, which means there would be no increase.

SIDE BENEFITS

But it would give the union several gains in the hours of work clause, statutory holidays, leave of absence, seniority arrangements and medical service benefits.

IWA district president Joe Morris promptly announced that the union executive had recommended to members that they accept the formula.

The unionists met Sunday to hear IWA leaders interpret Mr. Sloan's report. Voting began today by secret ballot.

The Sloan formula — which has already been accepted by the industry — proposes no wage increases for the current year. The present basic rate is $1.72 an hour with an average throughout the industry of $2.10.

The IWA originally asked for a 10-per-cent boost, later reduced it to 5 cents an hour.

PEACE PREDICTED

In the ballot the men are asked: "Are you in favor of accepting the Sloan formula as a settlement of 1958 negotiations?"

Although they have the right to reject the proposals, contained in a special issue of the union newspaper The B.C. Lumber Worker, it is unlikely that the men will do so.

Mr. Morris said: "Commis-

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Scientists pressed an intensive investigation today to determine what caused the first U.S. lunar rocket to explode. The huge satellite-bearing missile shattered in a puff of white smoke 77 seconds after a fiery blastoff.

Even before this initial strike at the moon, a second attempt had been ordered. The follow-up U.S. Air Force lunar probe attempt is expected during a three-day period starting Sept. 14. There was a distinct possibility that the Russians might attempt to beat the new U.S. deadline by one day.

Divers descended into 60 feet of water some 10 miles north-east of the cape and came up with sections of the metal skin of the Thor 1,500-mile range missile that was the rocket's first stage.

The two upper stages—both borrowed from the navy Vanguard program, continued onward an undetermined distance after the explosion. It was not expected that that part of the wreckage would be recovered.

BLAST IN ENGINE

Preliminary analysis indicated that the explosion occurred in the engine compartment of the first of the three rocket stages. Maj. Gen. Bernard Schriever, chief of the air force ballistic missile division, told a press conference that it might take a week to pinpoint the trouble definitely.

A leak in or rupture of one of the liquid-oxygen or fuel lines might have touched off the explosion, he said.

Schriever and Roy W. Johnson, head of the defence department's space program, said two hours after the blow-up that they were disappointed but not discouraged by the failure.

FIVE ATTEMPTS

Johnson, director of the advanced research projects agency, said the malfunctioning of any of 300,000 parts could make the missile do what this one did.

This was the first of five lunar probe attempts ordered for this year, three by the air force and two by the army.

The rocket launched Sunday was the tallest ever fired in the U.S., a white-bodied, silver-tipped 88-footer.

The plan called for the Thor engine to produce its 150,000 pounds of thrust for a burning time of 157 seconds. Then the spent hull would drop away and the engine of the Vanguard second stage would take over.

REACHED 50,000 FEET

The missile climbed to about 50,000 feet, angling over slightly toward the northeast. Then there was a puff of smoke and a tongue of flame.

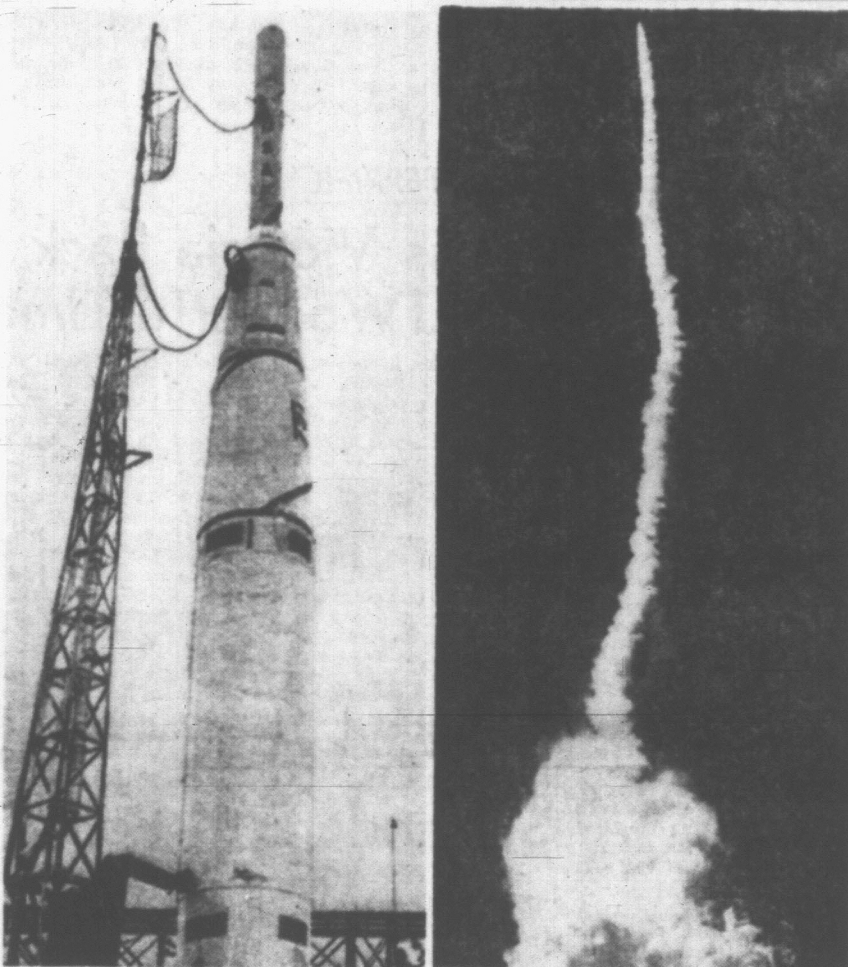

In Washington, Lt. Gen. Roscoe Wilson, air force deputy chief of staff for research and development, predicted that another U.S. moon rocket attempt will be made Sept. 14.

Red China Buildup

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The defence ministry said today the Chinese Reds have increased by eight or nine divisions the strength of their ground forces in the coastal areas of Fukien province, opposite Formosa. A Communist division averages 12,700 men. At this reckoning, the increase would be from 101,600 to 114,300.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—A Western-supported resolution was laid before the emergency UN General Assembly today proposing that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld be given a new Middle East peace mission.

The new plan was whipped into final form in a busy week-end of conferences between the chief sponsor, deputy foreign minister Hans Engen of Norway, and other key delegates.

Main points in the Norwegian resolution:

1. Hammarskjöld would make such arrangements as he may find adequate in upholding the principles and purposes of the UN charter in relation to Lebanon and Jordan.

2. The assembly would reaffirm that all UN members should refrain from acts, direct or indirect, aimed at fomenting civil strife in other countries or at subversion.

3. Hammarskjöld would be asked to continue his studies on a possible standby UN peace force for the Middle East. He also would be asked to consult with the Arabs on the possibility of setting up an economic regional development agency.

4. A report would be requested by Sept. 30, when the regular fall assembly will be in session.

A diplomat said some Arab and Asian countries had objected that the resolution did not, say specifically that the United States and Britain should withdraw their troops. Engen was said to be ready to urge adoption of the resolution despite this adverse reception.

JORDAN RETREATS

At the opening of today's debate Jordan's delegate, Abedel Monem Rifai, backed down from his opposing position of last week and said his country would "always be ready to welcome the presence of the United Nations in Jordan in a form which my government finds fit to overcome the present crisis."

This was taken as smothering off one element of opposition to the new compromise attempt, since Rifai's statement of opposition last Thursday to accepting UN troops as a protection force in lieu of the present British contingent had indicated rough going for the compromise move.

The intermediary powers who joined in sponsoring today's resolution were careful to avoid direct identification with Britain and the U.S., the two big powers involved. Norway placed it before the assembly with co-sponsorship from Canada, Colombia and Denmark — with several others expected to join later—

Douk Blown Up
In Okanagan
Cache Explosion

KELOWNA (CP)—Discovery of the shattered body of a young Sons of Freedom Doukhobor in an isolated cabin in the Okanagan hills led police Sunday to piece together a story of terrorist bomb manufacture that somehow went wrong.

It left another member of the religious sect maimed for life after crawling 400 yards to a highway and crying for help with half his chest blown away. A motorist picked him up three days after the estimated time of the blast.

The latest development in terrorist activity led authorities to rush 100 RCMP police from Chilliwack and Kamloops into the area to augment the regular eight-man Kelowna detachment.

RCMP identified the dead man as Philip Perevereff, 20, of Winlaw, B.C., which lies 200 miles across the Cascade Mountains in the Kootenays near the headquarters of the fanatic Freedomite sect at Krestova. Both arms were blown away.

Under guard in Kelowna Hospital is Harry Bojey, 20, also of Winlaw. One lung was blown away, his face was injured and he has lost the sight of one eye. Bojey was reported in fair condition after four doctors worked on him Sunday.

He was to be charged today with manufacturing a bomb.

After a preliminary investigation of paraphernalia found at the scene RCMP investigating officers concluded the two were manufacturing a time bomb of the jar type, the same as discovered in the wash room at a Vernon hotel some weeks ago.

They said the bomb had apparently been set to go off at midnight Wednesday, about the same time terrorist bombs blasted two post offices and a public building in the Okanagan centres of Osoyoos, Oliver and Vernon.

Enough Dynamite for Six Bombs

But the officers were unable to determine what went wrong. RCMP Staff-Sgt. W. B. Irving said two sticks of dynamite were used in the bomb which exploded. Another 10 sticks were found nearby, enough to make five more bombs.

The dynamite was of the highest potency—next in power to nitroglycerine.

Sgt. L. R. MacBride of Calgary was brought down from the Vernon army camp Sunday to detonate the other explosives.

Perevereff's cabin was one of a number of nerve centres for the manufacture of terrorist bombs, rather than the main "factory" as at first believed.

Heavy police guards were put on the new $7,500,000 Okanagan Lake Bridge, on industrial plants and business houses.

Doukhobor terrorism in the past has been chiefly associated with the Kootenays, but this year the Okanagan has experienced numerous bombings.

Pearkes Takes Parade Salute

VANCOUVER (CP) — Defence Minister Pearkes today took the salute in downtown Vancouver as a colorful parade, two miles long, marked the opening of the 48th Pacific National Exhibition.

A crowd estimated at 125,000 to 150,000 lined the streets to watch more than 50 floats, many in the centennial theme, marking British Columbia's 100th birthday.

The RCMP musical ride contingent, 32 scarlet-coated riders astride matched brown horses, was cheered wildly as it moved down the crowd-packed streets.

Stage-Struck Mary

A new cartoon strip character is introduced to Times readers today. She is Mary Perkins, a small-town girl who wins a beauty contest and heads for the glamor and glitter of show business on Broadway.

Leonard Starr, the artist who created Mary Perkins, has labelled his strip "On Stage." As it progresses, the story will unfold the behind-the-scenes struggles of a girl attempting to make a success in the big time.

On the comic page today Mary Perkins joins other newly-introduced characters to Times readers like Danny BAKEWELL, England — Bishop George Sinker conducted a service from the saddle Sunday for 40 young horsemen of the Bakewell Riding Club.

The bishop stayed on his mount throughout the service in a local park.

"I believe it was the first service of its kind," he said later.

A horse-back procession through the Derbyshire town, with the Anglican bishop at its head, preceded the service. Music was played by the town band.

In his short sermon, carried by loudspeakers from a microphone set up in front of his mount, Bishop Sinker blessed the horses gathered in the field and said a prayer for them.

HOLLYWOOD — Back in the film capital from location in Spain, Jayne Mansfield was asked how she liked Europe.

"Never again," she replied blithely. "You can't get a decent hamburger or malted over there."

"It's nice in some little cultural ways. But they don't even have barbecues in their backyards. And that's what I missed most of all."

GUISBOROUGH, Eng. — A cow chomped through a television cable here Sunday and almost deprived viewers of a program about life on the farm.

Engineers found the severed cable only 15 minutes before the program was scheduled to go out on Britain's commercial television network.

They did a quick repair job while the cow looked on, and the show hit the airwaves right on time.

MOSCOW — Paul Robeson called on the Soviet people Sunday to fight for freedom. He did not specify what freedom or whose, but spoke—and sang—in general terms of man's right to freedom.

"When I read in America about Sputnik," the American singer told a concert audience, "my thoughts went out to my friends, the people of the Soviet Union whose minds and hands have created this miracle, opening up to mankind the boundless expanse of the cosmos."

WOBURN, England — The world's greatest optimists—international nudists hoping to find sunshine in Britain—shivered in 64-degree temperature today. There was no sun, naturally.

But a few of the 150 delegates already in the annual convention camp shed their clothes.

Sunday the nudists played volleyball, badminton and tennis, and 24 attended a church service in the nude. The preacher, Rev. B. H. Yates-Claxton, a Free-Church practising nudist, was clothed. After the services, though, he whipped off his garments and helped two nude volunteer ladies prepare the day's lunch.

sioner Sloan has made a most capable and energetic effort to establish a basis of settlement and avert a strike.

Today Mr. Sloan said he had hoped the result of the vote would be known today or Tuesday, but later understood the result might not come "for a few days."

An IWA official in Victoria fixed the probable date of announcement of the vote result as Aug. 24 or 25.

EMPLOYEES ACCEPT

John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, which represents the operators, told The Times the FIR was "recommending the Sloan report to our members," but declined further comment.

The lumber companies have claimed they could not afford to pay an increase because of unsuitable market conditions. This argument was upheld by the majority report of a conciliation board, which recommended no increase.

In a union ballot workers voted 90 per cent in favor of a walkout to enforce their demands. However, in a subsequent government-supervised vote June 27 only 65 per cent of the membership favored strike action.

In a radio broadcast in Vancouver during the weekend, the union pointed out that it had negotiated well beyond what would have been strike deadline in order to avoid a "disastrous situation."

Union officials also claimed that there were "considerable grounds" for believing the employers wanted to provoke the IWA into an unpopular and prolonged strike "that would destroy the union's bargaining strength for many years to come."

This was laid as one reason the IWA leaders urged their members to vote acceptance of the Sloan formula.

PORTLAND (AP) — The International Woodworkers of America announced Saturday night it will seek a wage increase for its 45,000 members. Last spring the union agreed to extend its contract without a wage increase because of the lumber market slump.

However, a union official said Saturday night that recent lumber prices justify a wage increase.

The union will open negotiations here Sept. 16 with the lumbermen's industrial relations committee and the door manufacturers' industrial committee, said Harvey Nelson, chairman of the union's north-west regional negotiating committee.

Police Chief Kills Himself At Saint John

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (UPI) — Police Chief J. J. Oakes, 53, was found shot to death in his car Sunday night, and Mayor W. W. Macaulay announced later that he died from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The car was parked in the chief's garage. His service revolver lay beside him.

An inquiry ruled out the possibility that he was shot by someone else. Macaulay said no inquest would be held.

Police sources said Oakes was heard in a loud argument with other officers of the department before he left his office.

Oakes' death was similar to that of Toronto Police Chief John Chisholm July 4. Chisholm was believed to have shot himself in his car at a Toronto park.

UN

Continued from Page 1 but it was understood that the U.S. and Britain were firmly behind its draft terms.

INDIA SAID OPPOSED

Diplomatic sources said India would vote against the plan.

Meanwhile, State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd submitted letters to the assembly president, Sir Leslie Munnro of New Zealand, giving formal assurances that U.S. and British forces will be withdrawn from Lebanon and Jordan when stable conditions are restored.

A key part of the letters designed to ease Arab opposition to the Western resolution declared that U.S. and British forces would be pulled out as soon as the Assembly determined that the UN had taken action making their presence unnecessary.

The new resolution was intended as a counter-move to Russia's motion to the Assembly last week by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko which put more emphasis on withdrawal as a first step in sending the problem to the UN organization.

This Russian plan got initial support from the Arab-Asian voting group.

Sunday night, after Engen had talked to Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of the U.A.R., an Arab source indicated that Nasser's spokesman at the UN had not accepted "any resolution."

Lacking, apparently, the support of the Arab-Asian voting bloc, the compromise proposal's hope of achieving the required two-thirds majority in the 81-member assembly was slimmer than that of the previous Russian resolution, which aimed at the votes of the 28-member Arab-Asian group and some of the neutralists as well.

The Nasser press today said meanwhile, the Norwegian plan for stabilizing the Middle East is doomed but that Hammarikjold soon will visit Cairo anyway.

The newspaper Al Ahrar, unofficial outlet for U.A.R. President Nasser, said Hammarikjold already has made plans to fly to Cairo to discuss the situation with Nasser. There was no official confirmation of the report.

ENDS TALKS WITH FEISAL

Nasser ended three days of talks with Crown Prince Feisal, the premier of Saudi Arabia. Feisal told reporters a full and solid renewal of good relations between his country and the U.A.R. developed from the talks.

Feisal's visit has aroused wide-spread speculation that Saudi Arabia eventually will federate with the U.A.R. as Yemen has, Nasserites claimed the U.A.R. also is winning support from Iraq and Sudan and Libya.

The rebel leader in Beirut, Saeb Salam, called for immediate withdrawal of the UN observer corps in Lebanon as well as the observers' three reports confirmed rebel contentions that the fighting has been primarily an internal matter rather than a case of U.A.R. "massive interference" as claimed by the Lebanese government.

Australia Farms Hit by Flooding

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Floodwaters Sunday night covered hundreds of thousands of acres of southeast Australian farmland, dislocating road systems.

Most of Victoria is hard hit. Worst damage was reported along the Goulburn River in central Victoria where dozens of families have been evacuated and stock losses are mounting.

At least two civilized races, the Mayas and the Toltecs, preceded the Aztec empire in Mexico conquered by the Spanish.

Williamson Heirs Get Cash Payment For Mine Shares

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (CP) — Harry Oppenheimer, chairman of the De Beers Consolidated Mines, said today his company has made a lump-sum payment to the Canadian heirs of the late Dr. John T. Williamson for their interest in the fabulously-rich Mwaludi diamond mine.

Oppenheimer declined to disclose the amount paid to each of the heirs, but said the sum involved had been paid in Canadian dollars because they were Canadian residents. Special arrangements had to be made to make the payment in dollars since Tanganyika is in the sterling area.

Vancouver Blonde Miss Canada 1958

HAMILTON (CP) — A statuesque blonde from Vancouver who wants to act on Broadway is Canada's 1958 beauty queen.

For winning the Miss Canada pageant Saturday 19-year-old Danica d'Hondt receives a $1,000 scholarship to continue drama studies at the University of British Columbia and a $1,000 wardrobe. She is also in for a hectic 12 months of personal appearances in Canada and overseas.

Miss d'Hondt at five-feet, nine inches was the tallest of the 25 contestants. Her statistics: 38-23-38.

'SHE'S TERRIFIC'

Miss Victoria Back Had Wonderful Time

Miss Victoria, blue-eyed, 18-year-old Mary Gibson, today was filled with enthusiasm following her week in Hamilton, Ont., where she was in competition with 24 other lovelies for the title of Miss Canada.

Though she failed to place, Miss Gibson said the experience was "wonderful, just wonderful. The hospitality was extraordinary."

She returned here Sunday. The contestants had a tightly-packed schedule of tours, luncheons and personal experiences.

Miss Gibson's room-mate during the week was Miss Canada herself, 19-year-old Danica d'Hondt of Vancouver.

"She is a terrific person and will make an exceptional Miss Canada," said Miss Gibson.

The Victoria beauty leaves here Saturday for Vancouver to compete in the Miss PNE contest.

She will not take part in the parade today as Victoria's float will feature a scaled-down, five-foot model of Queen Victoria.

Designer Roderick Clark said a live young woman on the float would throw the presentation out of proportion.

Higher Education Needed To Aid Indian Population

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER (CP) — Most Rev. Fergus O'Grady, Roman Catholic Bishop of Prince Rupert, says the most pressing need of British Columbia Indians is higher education in joint white and Indian high schools.

In an interview here Sunday the bishop said many people in B.C. are quick to condemn Indians, especially in such an incident as the Prince Rupert riot, but are slow to accept them as equals.

"He said the Indian cannot be expected to conform to society, customs and manners if he is not educated alongside white children from kindergarten up."

"We have Indian nurses, teachers and stenographers now—you would not have seen them 20 years ago—but there is still a long way to go. The Indians are only 1 per cent of Canada's population. You cannot keep them segregated forever."

Bishop O'Grady, who for 20 years has been trying to improve the calibre of Indian education, said Indians do not lack intelligence. What they do lack, he said is encouragement.

Kirby Heads Tories In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Progressive Conservative Association Saturday selected a 43-year-old lawyer, W. J. C. Kirby, as its first leader in 21 years.

Mr. Kirby's election on the fourth ballot wound up the party's two-day leadership convention here, attended by more than 800 persons.

The meeting set the stage for the Conservatives' campaign for the next provincial election, expected next year.

Mr. Kirby is one of three Conservatives in the 61-seat Alberta legislature. He was first elected in a 1954 by-election and retained his Red Deer seat until the 1955 general provincial election.

Mr. Kirby becomes the party's first full-fledged provincial leader since 1937, when D. M. Duggan, former Edmonton mayor, retired. The party has been headed in the legislature by its acting House leader, J. Percy Page, of Edmonton.

VETS' BENEFIT BOOSTS APPROVED BY COMMONS

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons today gave final reading to three bills widening benefits to war veterans and their dependents.

Two of the bills increase the amount of insurance that may be paid to beneficiaries of veterans.

Under an amendment to the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act, affecting First World War veterans, the amount of insurance that may be paid in a lump sum in certain cases is boosted to $1,000 from $500. The same increase applies to the Veterans' Insurance Act which affects Second World War and Korean War veterans.

The second bill—amending the Veterans' Insurance Act—extends to Sept. 30, 1962, from Oct. 31, 1958, the deadline for veterans who may wish to take out a policy.

The third bill amends the Children of War Dead Act to broaden eligibility and boost some assistance rates for the higher education of children of war dead.

The three bills now go to the Senate.

PM to Make Public Arctic Travel Rules

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised in the Commons today to make public "regulations" governing travel arrangements in the Arctic.

Licence Holders Have Edge Small Firms Say

Tree farm licencees have an unfair advantage in bidding for timber within the Crooked River public working circle, the Sloan Royal Commission on Forestry was told today.

This was stated in a brief presented before Commissioner Gordon Sloan by Hans Roine of the Crooked River Forest Protective Association—a group of eight small and medium-sized companies operating in the Crooked River public working circle.

Mr. Sloan is inquiring into allegations that tree farm (forest management) licencees have an unfair advantage over smaller operators in bidding for Crown timber. The inquiry was resumed this morning after a two-week recess.

Mr. Roine said tree farm licencees with an assured volume of annual allowable cut, not subject to competition, can bid on each timber sale which is auctioned within the public working circle.

"Member companies may expect two possible competitors—the tree farm licencees of the region and any other non-established individuals or companies who are interested in timber within the working circle."

So far, Mr. Roine said, no tree farm licencee has bid on Crooked River timber sales. He argued that present tree farm licence areas should not be extended at the expense of the industry which has grown up around them.

100 RCMP DEATH LURKS IN STRANGE PLACES

back from Kelowna late Saturday. Brown told police, that he saw Boje crawl to the side of the road—the same man who had been under the car.

He picked up the badly-injured man and brought him to hospital and then took police to the spot where he had picked him up.

Police then located the cabin, 400 yards away in a stand of timber, and found the shattered body of Perceveroff. It was lying among the wreckage of the cabin interior and police found numerous pieces of what they described as bomb-manufacturing apparatus.

It was believed the body had been lying there for three days while the injured Boje made the tortuous 400 yards to the road where Brown eventually picked him up.

Only last Friday five young Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were committed at Kelowna to stand trial on charges of conspiring to cause explosions.

The five are Sam Konklin, 27, Alex Konklin, 26, his brother; John Antifaef, 24; George Woykin, 22, and John Nazarov, 21. All were working in the Kelowna area at the time of their arrest.

They were charged following a lengthy RCMP investigation of terrorist explosions in various parts of the Okanagan in recent months.

'WONDERFUL ATTEMPT'

Soviets Sympathetic On U.S. Moon Failure

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian scientists took sympathetic note today of the U.S. attempt to shoot for the moon. One said it was a pity it failed; another called it "a wonderful attempt."

There was no derision. The Russians seemed to share in the disappointment—but no great surprise—of U.S. and British scientists here for the 10th congress of the International Astronomical Union.

Mrs. Anna Masevich, director of the Soviet Moonwatch program and a noted astronomer, said:

"A failure in the scientific world is always a pity because it affects so many people." A. B. Severny, director of the Crimean Observatory in southern Russia, said the U.S. launching, however unsuccessful, remains "the first wonderful attempt of a very important activity."

RUSS TRY 'SOON' EXPERT PREDICTS

LONDON (Reuters) — A British space scientist predicted Sunday the Soviet Union "will try very soon" to launch a rocket to the moon.

Kenneth W. Gatland, vice-chairman of the British Interplanetary Society, said the Russian attempts might be made to coincide with the opening of the International Congress of Astronautics in Amsterdam next week.

"My feeling is that the Russians might have had a shot and failed," he said. "But whether they have or not I am sure that they will try very soon."

ISLAND DIGEST

Huge Auction Of Lumbering Gear Planned

Gigantic auction of equipment with a replacement value of $500,000 will be held late next month following voluntary liquidation in June of the Victoria lumber firm of Crowe, Gonnason Co. Ltd., after 70 years of operation.

A catalogue listing equipment for sale is being mailed prospective purchasers in the Pacific Northwest.

CHEMAINUS — Mid-Island Colt League All-Stars will represent Canada at the Colt League world series in Ontario, California, next week.

The Mid-Islanders, who led the Victoria All-Stars 3-1 in the best-of-seven playoff series for the right to make the trip, were declared series winners by Colt League headquarters at San Bernardino when Victoria was unable to complete its schedule of home playoff games in time.

The Mid-Island therefore will be representing the whole of Canada when they compete in the series against 11 teams from all parts of the United States.

Players making the trip will be Doug Latta, Harry Glasswick and Wally Robinson, Chemsinus; Bill Beck, Greg Findlay, Winston Allen, Gordon Lawlor, Bob Wilson and David Thein, Nanaimo; Ken McCaskell, Bill Greenwell, Trevor Ferguson, Rocky Wise, Lake Cowichan; Darryl Brinham and Bob Robertson, Ladysmith. The team will leave by boat from Victoria, Wednesday night.

Rich Harvesting Of Coho Salmon

Salmon trollers on the west coast of Vancouver Island are making up to $200 per day as a result of the best coho salmon run since 1945.

Fisheries officials cannot explain the good run except to say it may be a combination of a good spawning year and exceptional feeding conditions.

The 400 salmon trollers are catching close to 600 pounds of fish per day, and the same number of American fishermen are doing as well beyond the three-mile limit.

It is expected the run will reach Juan de Fuca Strait shortly as the fish make their way to mainland and east coast spawning streams.

RUSS TRY 'SOON' EXPERT PREDICTS

LONDON (Reuters) — A British space scientist predicted Sunday the Soviet Union "will try very soon" to launch a rocket to the moon.

Kenneth W. Gatland, vice-chairman of the British Interplanetary Society, said the Russian attempts might be made to coincide with the opening of the International Congress of Astronautics in Amsterdam next week.

"My feeling is that the Russians might have had a shot and failed," he said. "But whether they have or not I am sure that they will try very soon."

Fizzle Probed; Sept. 14 Next

LUCK NEEDED

First Try 'Honorable Failure'

LONDON (AP) — World scientists showed little surprise at the failure of the U.S. moon shot.

The Soviet Tass news agency reported the failure promptly, without comment, as did Radio Cairo.

In Tokyo, Japan's leading rocket expert, Dr. Hideo Itokawa, said luck as well as precise instruments is required and he had not expected the first effort to be successful.

A similar view was expressed by H. B. Ridley of the British Astronomical Association in London.

The story drew big headlines in European newspapers. Most editorial comment was that the firing had been an honorable failure.

MISSED ME

"Missed me!" by 222,190 miles, 2,800 feet," quipped a beaming man in the moon above the London Daily Herald's lead story.

Editorially, The Herald put it this way: "We say hard luck—and better luck next time."

A smug-faced man in the Moon smiled from the front-page of the Communist Daily Worker, which splashed the rocket flight under the headline "moon rocket blows up."

The Conservative Daily Sketch used the headline: "August moon is flopnik."

Pearkes Takes Parade Salute

VANCOUVER (CP) — Defence Minister Pearkes today took the salute in downtown Vancouver as a colorful parade, two miles long, marked the opening of the 48th Pacific National Exhibition.

A crowd estimated at 125,000 to 150,000 lined the streets to watch more than 50 floats, many in the centennial theme, marking British Columbia's 100th birthday.

The RCMP musical ride contingent, 32 scarlet-coated riders astride matched brown horses, was cheered wildly as it moved down the crowd-packed streets.

'WONDERFUL ATTEMPT'

Soviets Sympathetic On U.S. Moon Failure

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian scientists took sympathetic note today of the U.S. attempt to shoot for the moon. One said it was a pity it failed; another called it "a wonderful attempt."

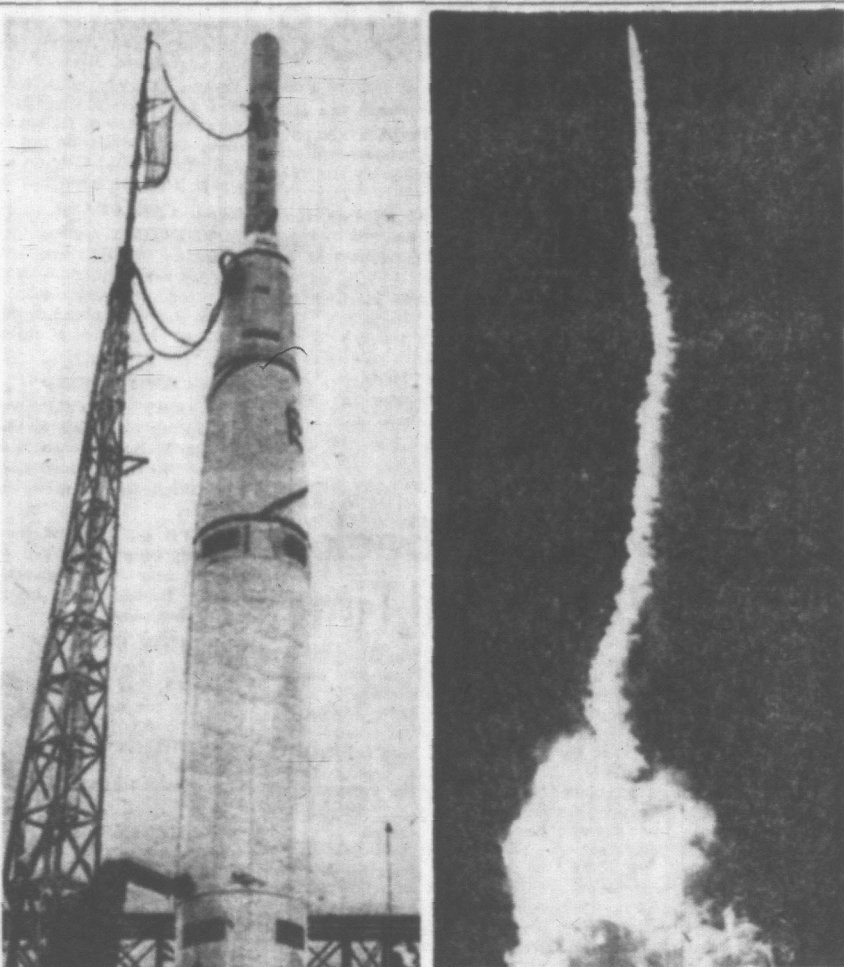

There was no derision. The Russians seemed to share in the disappointment—but no great surprise—of U.S. and British scientists here for the 10th congress of the International Astronomical Union.

Mrs. Anna Masevich, director of the Soviet Moonwatch program and a noted astronomer, said:

"A failure in the scientific world is always a pity because it affects so many people."

A. B. Severny, director of the Crimean Observatory in southern Russia, said the U.S. launching, however unsuccessful, remains "the first wonderful attempt of a very important activity."

Peace Mission by Dag Urged by West in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—A Western-supported resolution was laid before the emergency UN General Assembly today proposing that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld be given a new Middle East peace mission.

The new plan was whipped into final form in a busy weekend of conferences between the chief sponsor, deputy foreign minister Hans Engen of Norway, and other key delegates.

Main points in the Norwegian resolution:

1. Hammarskjöld would make such arrangements as he may find adequate in upholding the principles and purposes of the UN charter in relation to Lebanon and Jordan.

2. The assembly would reaffirm that all UN members should refrain from acts, direct or indirect, aimed at fomenting civil strife in other countries or at subversion.

3. Hammarskjöld would be asked to continue his studies on a possible standby UN peace force for the Middle East. He also would be asked to consult with the Arabs on the possibility of setting up an economic regional development agency.

4. A report would be requested by Sept. 30, when the regular fall assembly will be in session.

A diplomat said some Arab and Asian countries had objected that the resolution did not say specifically that the United States and Britain should withdraw their troops. Engen was said to be ready to urge adoption of the resolution despite this adverse reception.

JORDAN RETREATS

At the opening of today's debate Jordan's delegate, Abedel Monem Rifal, backed down from his opposing position of last week and said his country would "always be ready to welcome the presence of the United Nations in Jordan in a form which my government finds fit to overcome the present crisis."

This was taken as smoothing off one element of opposition to the new compromise attempt, since Rifal's statement of opposition last Thursday to accepting UN troops as a protection force in lieu of the present British contingent had indicated rough going for the compromise move.

The intermediary powers who joined in sponsoring today's resolution were careful to avoid direct identification with Britain and the U.S., the two big powers involved. Norway placed it, before the assembly with co-sponsorship from Canada, Colombia and Denmark—with several others expected to join later.

TONASKET, Wash. (UPI) — RCMP stood guard today over Donald Stevens, 54, wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of Anita Budde, 27, and the wounding of RCMP Cpl. Ralph Brown.

Stevens was arrested seven miles north of here after being shot in the hip while trying to elude a police cordon along the Washington-B.C. border. Police chief Lloyd Atchison said Stevens claimed U.S. nationality. His claim was investigated and it proved correct extradition procedure by B.C. would be started.

'No Strike' Policy Urged On Loggers

By DAVID COWLISHAW

British Columbia's 28,000 woodworkers have been urged by their leaders not to strike for higher pay but to accept the no-increase peace terms offered Sunday by provincial government forestry advisor Gordon Sloan.

Voting began today and the result is expected to be known by Aug. 25.

Mr. Sloan's formula for settlement, reached after two weeks of talks with the International Woodworkers of America in B.C. and officials representing 148 coast operators, recommends that the present wage scale be extended for another year, which means there would be no increase.

SIDE BENEFITS

But it would give the union several gains in the hours of work clause, statutory holidays, leave of absence, seniority arrangements and medical service benefits.

IWA district president Joe Morris promptly announced that the union executive had recommended to members that they accept the formula.

The unionists met Sunday to hear IWA leaders interpret Mr. Sloan's report. Voting began today by secret ballot.

The Sloan formula—which has already been accepted by the industry—proposes no wage increases for the current year. The present basic rate is $1.72 an hour with an average throughout the industry of $2.10.

The IWA originally asked for a 10-per-cent boost, later reduced it to 5 cents an hour.

100 Extra RCMP Go to Okanagan

KELOWNA (CP)—Discovery of the shattered body of a young Sons of Freedom Doukhobor in an isolated cabin in the Okanagan hills led police Sunday to piece together a story of terrorist bomb manufacture that somehow went wrong.

It left another member of the religious sect maimed for life after crawling 400 yards to a highway and crying for help with half his chest blown away. A motorist picked him up three days after the estimated time of the blast.

RCMP identified the dead man as Philip Pereveresoff, 20, of Winlaw, B.C., which lies 200 miles across the Cascade Mountains in the Kootenays near the headquarters of the fanatic Freedomite sect at Krestova. Both arms were blown away.

Under guard in Kelowna Hospital is Harry Boje, 20, also of Winlaw. One lung was blown away, his face was injured and he has lost the sight of one eye. Boje was reported in fair condition after four doctors worked on him Sunday.

He was to be charged today with manufacturing a bomb.

After a preliminary investigation of paraphernalia found at the scene RCMP investigating officers concluded the two were manufacturing a time bomb of the jar type, the same as discovered in the wash room at a Vernon hotel some weeks ago.

They said the bomb had apparently been set to go off at midnight Wednesday, about the same time terrorist bombs blasted two post offices and a public building in the Okanagan centres of Osoyoos, Oliver and Vernon.

Enough Dynamite for Six Bombs

But the officers were unable to determine what went wrong. RCMP Staff-Sgt. W. B. Irving said two sticks of dynamite were used in the bomb which exploded. Another 10 sticks were found nearby, enough to make five more bombs.

The dynamite was of the highest potency—next in power to nitroglycerine.

Sgt. L. R. MacBride of Calgary was brought down from the Vernon army camp Sunday to detonate the other explosives.

Police said they believe Pereveresoff's cabin was one of a number of nerve centres for the manufacture of terrorist bombs, rather than the main "factory" as at first believed.

The latest development in terrorist activity led authorities to rush 100 RCMP police from Chilliwack and Kamloops into the area to augment the regular eight-man Kelowna detachment.

Heavy police guards were put on the new $7,500,000 Okanagan Lake Bridge, on industrial plants and business houses.

Doukhobor terrorism in the past has been chiefly associated with the Kootenays, but this year the Okanagan has experienced numerous bombings.

Sect Leader Killed in 1924 Blast

A standing reward of $25,000 for information leading to the conviction of terrorists was posted by the provincial government early this year in an attempt to quash the new outbreak of violence.

The only other death in the long history of Doukhobor explosives was in October, 1924, when Peter Verigin the Elder, the original Doukhobor leader, was blown up along with some of his followers by a time bomb in Verigin's CPR railway car.

Police were led to their grisly discovery in the Pereveresoff

Body Lay 3 Days in Wrecked Cabin

It was when he was driving back from Kelowna late Saturday, Brown told police, that he saw Boje crawl to the side of the road—the same man who had been under the car.

He picked up the badly-injured man and brought him to hospital and then took police to the spot where he had picked him up.

Police then located the cabin, 400 yards away in a stand of timber, and found the shattered body of Pereveresoff. It was lying among the wreckage of the cabin interior and police found numerous pieces of what they described as bomb-manufacturing apparatus.

It was believed the body had been lying there for three days while the injured Boje made the tortuous 400 yards to the road where Brown eventually picked him up.

THIS WORLD OF OURS People and Things

BAKEWELL, England — Bishop George Sinker conducted a service from the saddle Sunday for 40 young horsemen of the Bakewell Riding Club.

The bishop stayed on his mount throughout the service in a local park.

"I believe it was the first service of its kind," he said later.

A horse-back procession through the Derbyshire town, with the Anglican bishop at its head, preceded the service. Music was played by the town band.

In his short sermon, carried by loudspeakers from a microphone set up in front of his mount, Bishop Sinker blessed the horses gathered in the field and said a prayer for them.

HOLLYWOOD—Back in the film capital from location in Spain, Jayne Mansfield was asked how she liked Europe.

"Never again," she replied blithely. "You can't get a decent hamburger or malted over there."

"It's nice in some little cultural ways. But they don't even have barbecues in their backyards. And that's what I missed most of all."

GUISBOROUGH, Eng.—A cow chomped through a television cable here Sunday and almost deprived viewers of a program about life on the farm.

Engineers found the severed cable only 15 minutes before the program was scheduled to go out on Britain's commercial television network.

They did a quick repair job while the cow looked on, and the show hit the airwaves right on time.

MOSCOW—Paul Robeson called on the Soviet people Sunday to fight for freedom. He did not specify what freedom or whose, but spoke—and sang—in general terms of man's right to freedom.

"When I read in America about Sputnik," the American singer told a concert audience, "my thoughts went out to my friends; the people of the Soviet Union whose minds and hands have created this miracle, opening up to mankind the boundless expanse of the cosmos."

But a few of the 150 delegates already in the annual convention camp shed their clothes.

Sunday the nudists played volleyball, badminton and tennis, and 24 attended a church service in the nude. The preacher, Rev. B. H. Yates-Claxton, a Free-Church practicing nudist, was clothed. After the services, though, he whipped off his garments and helped two nude volunteer ladies prepare the day's lunch.

stoner Sloan has made a most capable and energetic effort to establish a basis of settlement and avert a strike.

Today Mr. Sloan said he had hoped the result of the vote would be known today or Tuesday, but later understood the result might not come "for a few days."

An IWA official in Victoria fixed the probable date of announcement of the vote result as Aug. 24 or 25.

EMPLOYERS ACCEPT

John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, which represents the operators, told The Times the FIR was recommending the Sloan report to its members, but declined further comment.

The lumber companies have claimed they could not afford to pay an increase because of unsuitable market conditions. This argument was upheld by the majority report of a conciliation board, which recommended no increase.

In a union ballot workers voted 90 per cent in favor of a walkout to enforce their demands. However, in a subsequent government-supervised vote June 27 only 65 per cent of the membership favored strike action.

In a radio broadcast in Vancouver during the weekend, the union pointed out that it had negotiated well beyond what would have been strike deadline in order to avoid a "disastrous situation."

Union officials also claimed that there were "considerable grounds" for believing the employers wanted to provoke the IWA into an unpopular and prolonged strike "that would destroy the union's bargaining strength for many years to come."

This was laid as one reason the IWA leaders urged their members to vote acceptance of the Sloan formula.

PORTLAND (AP)—The International Woodworkers of America announced Saturday night it will seek a wage increase for its 45,000 members. Last spring the union agreed to extend its contract without a wage increase because of the lumber market slump.

However, a union official said Saturday night that recent lumber prices justify a wage increase.

The union will open negotiations here Sept. 16 with the lumbermen's industrial relations committee and the door manufacturers' industrial committee, said Harvey Nelson, chairman of the union's north-west regional negotiating committee.

Police Chief Kills Himself At Saint John

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (UPI)—Police Chief J. J. Oakes, 53, was found shot to death in his car Sunday night, and Mayor W. W. Macaulay announced later that he died from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The car was parked in the chief's garage. His service revolver lay beside him.

An inquiry ruled out the possibility that he was shot by someone else. Macaulay said no inquiry would be held.

Police sources said Oakes was heard in a loud argument with other officers of the department before he left his office.

Oakes' death was similar to that of Toronto Police Chief John Chisholm July 4. Chisholm was believed to have shot himself with his service revolver in his car at a Toronto park.

but it was understood that the U.S. and Britain were firmly behind its draft terms.

INDIA SAID OPPOSED

Diplomatic sources said India would vote against the plan.

Meanwhile, State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd submitted letters to the assembly president, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, giving formal assurances that U.S. and British forces will be withdrawn from Lebanon and Jordan when stable conditions are restored.

A key part of the letters designed to ease Arab opposition to the Western resolution declared that U.S. and British forces would be pulled out as soon as the Assembly determined that the UN had taken action making their presence unnecessary.

The new resolution was intended as a counter-move to Russia's motion to the Assembly last week by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko which put more emphasis on withdrawal as a first step in sending the problem to the UN organization.

This Russian plan got initial support from the Arab-Asian voting group.

Sunday night, after Engen had talked to Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of the U.A.R., an Arab source indicated that Nasser's spokesman at the UN had not accepted "any resolution."

Lacking, apparently, the support of the Arab-Asian voting bloc, the compromise proposal's hope of achieving the required two-thirds majority in the 18-member assembly was slimmer than that of the previous Russian resolution, which aimed at the votes of the 28-member Arab-Asian group and some of the neutralists as well.

The Nasser press today said meanwhile, the Norwegian plan for stabilizing the Middle East is doomed but that Hamarskjold soon will visit Cairo anyway.

The newspaper Al Ahran, unofficial outlet for U.A.R. President Nasser, said Hamarskjold already has made plans to fly to Cairo to discuss the situation with Nasser. There was no official confirmation of the report.

ENDS TALKS WITH FEISAL

Nasser ended three days of talks with Crown Prince Feisal, the premier of Saudi Arabia. Feisal told reporters a full and solid renewal of good relations between his country and the U.A.R. developed from the talks.

Feisal's visit has aroused wide-spread speculation that Saudi Arabia eventually will federate with the U.A.R. as Yemen has. Nasserites claimed the U.A.R. also is winning support from Iraq and Sudan and Libya.

The rebel leader in Beirut, Saeb Salam, called for immediate withdrawal of the UN observer corps in Lebanon as well as the observers' three reports as of U.S. troops. Salam said the observers' three reports confirmed rebel contentions that the fighting has been primarily an internal matter rather than a case of U.A.R. "massive interference" as claimed by the Lebanese government.

Australia Farms Hit by Flooding

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Floodwaters Sunday night covered hundreds of thousands of acres of southeast Australian farmland, displacing road systems.

Most of Victoria is hard hit. Worst damage was reported along the Goulburn River in central Victoria where dozens of families have been evacuated and stock losses are mounting.

'SHE'S TERRIFIC'

Miss Victoria Back Had Wonderful Time

Miss Victoria, blue-eyed, 18-year-old Mary Gibson, today was filled with enthusiasm following her week in Hamilton, Ont., where she was in competition with 24 other lovelies for the title of Miss Canada.

Though she failed to place, Miss Gibson said the experience was "wonderful, just wonderful. The hospitality was extraordinary."

She returned here Sunday.

The contestants had a tight-lipped schedule of tours, luncheons and personal experiences.

Miss Gibson's room-mate during the week was Miss Canada herself, 19-year-old Danica d'Hondt of Vancouver.

"She is a terrific person and will make an exceptional Miss Canada," said Miss Gibson.

The Victoria beauty leaves here Saturday for Vancouver to compete in the Miss PNE contest.

She will not take part in the parade today as Victoria's float will feature a scaled-down, five-foot model of Queen Victoria. Designer Roderick Clack said a live young woman on the float would throw the presentation out of proportion.

Hunted Union Official Surrenders to Police

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Herman Kierdorf, former Teamster official sought for two weeks for questioning in the death by fire of his nephew, game himself up Sunday night.

The 68-year-old onetime business agent for a Teamsters' Union local surrendered by agreement at a drive-in restaurant.

"I'm happy to have it over with," he said.

Herman vanished Aug. 4, the day his nephew, Frank Kierdorf, 54, staggered into a Pontiac hospital with burns which police believe he suffered while

Miss d'Hondt is writing a one-act play. She wants the Miss Canada title to be a stepping-stone from television work to the stage, preferably in New York.

She wants 12 children, loves cooking and is haunted by calories. There are no men in her future—yet.

Runner-up was Heather Sigurdson, 18, Winnipeg's Miss Manitoba, who takes $500 that will help her with studies at the University of Manitoba. She hopes to become a social worker.

Unions Told to Break Pacts With Teamsters

UNITY HOUSE, Pa. (AP)—The AFL-CIO today ordered its affiliated unions to end as soon as possible all mutual aid pacts with the ousted Teamsters union.

The move, spearheaded by AFL-CIO President George Meany, was voted by the federation's executive council.

More than a half-dozen alliances of AFL-CIO unions with the Teamsters will have to be scrapped.

The Teamsters have been the target of more than 18 months of corruption charges by the Senate rackets investigation committee in Washington.

Formal cutting of Teamster aid could result in Teamsters' retaliation that would pit union against union and dilute strike co-operation.

Higher Education Needed To Aid Indian Population

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER (CP)—Most Rev. Fergus O'Grady, Roman Catholic Bishop of Prince Rupert, says the most pressing need of British Columbia Indians is higher education in joint white and Indian high schools.

In an interview here Sunday the bishop said many people in B.C. are quick to condemn Indians, especially in such an incident as the Prince Rupert riot, but are slow to accept them as equals.

He said the Indian cannot be expected to conform to society, customs and manners if he is not educated alongside white children from kindergarten up.

"We have Indian nurses, teachers and stenographers now—you would not have seen them 20 years ago—but there is still a long way to go. The Indians are only 1 per cent of Canada's population. You cannot keep them segregated forever."

Bishop O'Grady, who for 20 years has been trying to improve the calibre of Indian education, said Indians do not lack intelligence. What they do lack, he said is encouragement.

Kirby Heads Tories In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta Progressive Conservative Association Saturday selected a 48-year-old lawyer, W. J. C. Kirby, as its first leader in 21 years.

Mr. Kirby's election on the fourth ballot wound up the party's two-day leadership convention here, attended by more than 800 persons.

The meeting set the stage for the Conservatives' campaign for the next provincial election, expected next year.

Mr. Kirby is one of three Conservatives in the 61-seat Alberta legislature. He was first elected in a 1954 by-election and retained his Red Deer seat until the 1955 general provincial election.

Mr. Kirby becomes the party's first full-fledged provincial leader since 1937, when D. M. Duggan, former Edmonton mayor, retired. The party has been headed in the legislature by its acting House leader, J. Percy Page, of Edmonton.

VETS' BENEFIT BOOSTS APPROVED BY COMMONS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons today gave final reading to three bills widening benefits to war veterans and their dependents.

Two of the bills increase the amount of insurance that may be paid to beneficiaries of veterans.

Under an amendment to the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act, affecting First World War veterans, the amount of insurance that may be paid in a lump sum in certain cases is boosted to $1,000 from $500. The same increase applies to the Veterans' Insurance Act which affects Second World War and Korean War veterans.

The second bill—amending the Veterans' Insurance Act—extends to Sept. 30, 1962, from Oct. 31, 1958, the deadline for veterans who may wish to take out a policy.

The third bill amends the Children of War Dead Act to broaden eligibility and boost some assistance rates for the higher education of children of war dead.

The three bills now go to the Senate.

PM to Make Public Arctic Travel Rules

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised in the Commons today to make public "regulations" governing travel arrangements in the Arctic.

Opposition Leader—Pearson asked the prime minister to table a July 23 "agreement" on the subject. Mr. Diefenbaker said there is no agreement as such, but he would be glad to table "regulations" discussed over a period of time and which reached their "final determination" July 23.

Licence Holders Have Edge Small Firms Say

Tree farm licencees have an unfair advantage in bidding for timber within the Crooked River public working circle, the Sloan Royal Commission on Forestry was told today.

This was stated in a brief presented before Commissioner Gordon Sloan by Hans Roine of the Crooked River Forest Protective Association—a group of eight small and medium-sized companies operating in the Crooked River public working circle.

Mr. Sloan is inquiring into allegations that tree farm (or forest management) licencees have an unfair advantage over smaller operators in bidding for Crown timber. The inquiry was resumed this morning after a two-week recess.

Mr. Roine said tree farm licencees with an assured volume of annual allowable cut, not subject to competition, can bid on each timber sale which is auctioned within the public working circle.

"Member companies may expect two possible competitors—the tree farm licencees of the region and any other non-established individuals or companies who are interested in timber within the working circle."

So far, Mr. Roine said, no tree farm licencee has bid on Crooked River timber sales. He argued that present tree farm licence areas should not be extended at the expense of the industry which has grown up around them.

Have You Seen Our "UNSEEN EAR"

There is not much of it to be seen, but it is a hearing-aid which fits snugly behind the ear.

It has no receiver in the ear, no cord and, of course, no clothing noise. It weighs less than one ounce.

It is quiet and restful to wear but has ample power for all but the most severe hearing losses. As one customer says "It is so quiet, but I can understand conversation."

Come to the office and hear or have Mr. Tye call at your home to give a free demonstration.

Steri-Septic

STERI-SEPTIC is my latest word. I found it in Ladies' Lingerie. I can't say that I care for it, but I'll grant that it's exactly the word for the sort of world we live in.

Steri-septic means, you see, that the material of the garment has a built-in protection that will last the lifetime of the garment. (How long the garment will last, of course, is another question.)

But it's steri-septic, says the label, and positively prevents the growth of bacteria, fungi, or moulds. Frankly, I should have thought that washing the garment at proper intervals would have had the same effect. But doubtless that is a very old-fashioned, unsteri-septic view.

I must say, though, that in nearly 50 years of hectic modern living, I've never been seriously troubled by bacteria, fungi or moulds on my clothes. If a garment has looked a bit grubby, I've popped it in the washer, or sent it to the cleaners.

But, fooling apart, steri-septic belongs in the world of sanitized, deodorized, pressurized, tenderized, and—well, you complete the list.

To me, steri-septic belongs to an age when food is so purified and refined that what's been taken out of it has to be fed back to the consumers in the form of fancy pills and vitamins bought in drug stores at very fancy prices.

It belongs to an era in which Canada's third largest city dumps so much sewage on its beaches that no one can use them, and steri-septic people are too pure to turn the sewage into fertilizer to raise the productivity of the fast-disappearing agricultural land.

(Anybody knows what the Milwaukee Sewerage Commission does. Anybody ever thought of what those "backward" Oriental countries do? Not likely. We're too steri-septic.)

Steri-septic belongs to the world of television legs and daylong protection for the armpit. (That's a rather wild statement, but maybe I can make it stick!)

Finally, steri-septic belongs to the really crazy world where bright young men with PhDs work in multi-million-lab offices.

Some of them are working to build better nuclear weapons. Others are working to produce radiation pills which will partially counteract the effects of the nuclear weapons. (Sit up in your steri-septic nightie, dear, and take your radiation pill.)

Ah well, keep the consumer fussing about fungus on his underwear and the thought of the mushroom cloud won't trouble his steri-septic mind!

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Duelling With Corks

LONDON—At Oxford two students have fought what has been described as Britain's oddest duel.

Over a question of honor they lined up at 10 paces on the lawn of one of the women's colleges. Each was armed with three bottles of champagne and fired the corks at each other, the first to score a hit winning the duel and the other having to pay for the champagne.

To most people this would sound like a novelty. But to those of us who were with the First Canadian Division in Italy during the recent unpleasantness it is old stuff.

When the First Division was chasing the Germans up the toe of Italy (trying to find some) we paused for a while at a place called Potenza.

The war correspondents attached to the division included Ralph Allen, now editor of Maclean's, Greg Clark, who must surely now be qualifying as the grand old man of Canadian journalism, and two who are no longer with us, Fred Griffin and Matt Halton.

As accommodation, we took over a hunting lodge on the outskirts of the town which had formerly been one of Mussolini's holiday retreats.

One day while jeeping across the town to see what was happening at the front we were stopped on the road by a couple of lads of the West Nova Scotia Regiment. Not to put too fine a point on it, they were feeling no pain.

LONDON (AP) — The 80-year-old dowager Marchioness of Headfort, star of the Naughty 90s and greatest of the Gaiety Girls, died at her London home Sunday night. Once all theatreland knew her as Rosie Boote, a beauty from Tipperary who captured the heart of Edwardian London and the hand of a handsome marquis.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

First of Fall Shows Saturday

The penetrating richness of ripe blackberries spells fall to me.

Each year finds essential garden work shelved for a few hours while I gather these favorite fruits and make them into jelly for winter.

It's just as well they begin ripening before the fall flower and vegetable shows, especially this year with shows being scheduled earlier than usual.

The first of the fall shows and fairs brought to my attention is on James Island, Saturday of this week, Aug. 23.

Sponsored by the James Island Parent-Teacher Association, this event is the second flower and vegetable show by this group, but the first complete fall fair.

The ambitious schedule of classes materialized as early as March, so that the exhibitors in all departments will have had sufficient time for preparation.

Some of us think we have endured gardening difficulties grappling with obstinate soil in spring and water restrictions during the hot summer. The folks on James Island seem to overcome worse than these in the form of porous sandy soil and a water supply which usually brings some sea water with it during summer.

In spite of these obstacles, the results last year were amazing to my husband Jack and myself. We went over on an invitation, and again this year we are pleased to accept.

We've been nicknamed "the grandparents of the show" since we were brash enough to suggest one after our first gardening talk on the island.

We wish James Island PTA all success in their endeavor, and extend similar good wishes to other organizations in small communities who are doing so much to foster and maintain the spirit of good-neighbourliness.

The Day YOU Were Born

Mrs. Ann E. Grant, 1247 Beach Drive, celebrated her birthday Sunday. No doubt some of her 43 direct descendants helped her celebrate the occasion. She lives in a pretty cottage on the edge of the sea, by herself. Mrs. Grant is the oldest daughter of the late David Spencer.

On the day she was born: The Earl and Countess Dufferin were visiting Victoria. Gentlemen of the press accompanying the vice-regal suite included: Molyneux St. John of The Toronto Globe, E. Horton of The Toronto Mail and J. Stillson of The New York World.

A group of citizens petitioned that the Mrs. Grant motto, "Empress of India" be removed from the arches erected in honor of the Governor-General.

"The title 'Empress of India' is repugnant to the feeling of many British subjects," said the petition in part.

His Excellency refused to pass beneath another arch which bore the words: "The Carnarvon Terms or Separation."

Turkey was reported successful in her plan of campaign against Serbia and Montenegro and Mahomet Pasha with 20,000 men advanced to Kuci in Montenegro. A proclamation from Constantinople invited the Servians to submit and promised protection to all peaceable inhabitants and their property.

The date? Aug. 17, 1876.

Prison Rioters Burn Buildings

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Sixty screaming prisoners rioted through nearby Collins Bay Penitentiary Sunday, setting fires that destroyed three buildings and badly damaged several others.

They were halted when a guard, crouching behind a lumber pile, shot and wounded one of the leaders as they attempted to storm the kitchen.

Damage was estimated by Warden Victor Richmond at $65,000. Two men were injured, neither severely.

Warden Richmond said the reason for the riot is unknown. He speculated it was an incident marking the anniversary of a similar riot at Kingston Penitentiary Aug. 15, 1954.

Prisoner Lawrence Labelle, 23, of Ottawa, serving five years for attempted armed robbery, breaking and entering and theft, was shot in the leg. Guard Vincent Kelly was treated in hospital for head injuries suffered when elbowed by a rioter.

Destroyed by flames were a two-storey wooden dormitory that housed 48 prisoners, a punishment building known as The Hole and a shed. The Hole, able to accommodate six men, was empty at the time.

A concrete electrical shop, a concrete paint shop, carpentry shop and a dormitory were badly damaged.

The warden, who was in Toronto when the riot began, credited Guard D. S. Patterson with preventing the rioters from doing more damage. Patterson, armed with a rifle, saw the men heading for the kitchen and waited for them behind some lumber.

When two warnings failed to stop them, he fired, wounding Labelle. They slowed down long enough for more guards, provincial police and RCMP to arrive and hold them at gunpoint.

'NIGHT INTRUDER' SLAMS BUILDING

Sleeping apartment residents at 895 Heywood were unhurt when this oak tree crashed down on the side

MONTE ROBERTS

I am in the doghouse with the cat. And I have been going around, telling people I am in the doghouse with the cat, and seeking sympathy.

But I do not get sympathy from anyone, because everyone tells me it is nothing unusual for people to be in the doghouse with a cat.

Cats, it appears, are forever putting people in the doghouse for various reasons.

But the biggest reason for a cat putting a person in the doghouse appears to be the fact the cat gets jealous.

Which, it seems, is why I am in the doghouse with the cat.

The cat I refer to, of course, is the small female-type feline who lives at our house, namely, Little Miss Muffet.

Up until four days ago, one of Muffet's nightly routines was an hour or so snoozing on my knee, a routine to which, I must confess, I looked forward.

But last week my brand new granddaughter was brought over for a visit.

And I was allowed to hold the brand new granddaughter on my knee.

A perfectly innocent and harmless incident, one would think.

But so happened that Muffet wandered into the room while granddaughter was on knee. And Muffet walked over to my chair, saw someone else in her accustomed place, and stalked out carrying her tail like a battle ensign.

Since that evening, the cat will have nothing to do with my lap.

Granddaughter was over again on Saturday, and this time I was careful to stay well away from her, and to attempt to make a great fuss over the cat.

Muffet, however, would have no part of the proceedings, and hid in the top corner of the bedroom cupboard.

The only time the cat tolerates me at all is at meal times, and she is very much on her dignity even then.

I tell you, it is very trying to be in the doghouse with the cat, and the least people could do would be spare me a little sympathy, instead of just saying "cats are LIKE that."

of the building at 2 a.m. today. Heavy branches caused the only damage as they thudded onto the roof smashing window frames and spreading glass fragments throughout the bedrooms. Inspecting the damage are Ald. Elmer McEwen and an unidentified bystander.—(Times photo by Irving Strickland).

SHAKEN BUT UNHURT is Mrs. Frank Moss, Suite 10, 895 Heywood Ave., who was covered with glass and wood splinters when a tree fell against the building at 2 this morning. Drawn blinds and curtains saved Mrs. Moss and her husband from more serious injury.

Forest Fire Hazard Drops As Clouds, Rain Nearing

Forest fire hazard has dropped to "moderate" in portions of the Vancouver Forest District, and approaching clouds and possible rain may bring an end to the present restricted industrial closure in effect in the district woods.

"It likely will be up for review later in the week," a forest service spokesman said. "Meanwhile, the public should remember that all campfire permits are suspended under the closure."

The weatherman predicted sunny skies with occasional clouds for Tuesday, with temperatures between 55 and 68 degrees, and rain in the northern coastal area.

Here on Vancouver Island the forest fire situation is well under control, with all fires contained and high humidity at night helping to keep them in hand.

NO NEW FIRES

Men are still "mopping up" on the Goldstream fire, which covered approximately 100 acres, and there were no new fires on the weekend. The Battle Lake fire is on a patrol basis, and likely will continue to burn until the next period of heavy rain, a forester said.

RCMP said today they expected no charges would be laid against a man questioned in connection with the fire on the Malahat that covered one acre at Spectacle Lake.

A fire in the vicinity of Chip munk Creek near Chilliwack still out of control, has covered 5,000 acres and now is burning in mature timber. An effort is being made to put guards the full way around the blaze, which is at the 3,000-foot level in mountainous terrain.

500 FIREFIGHTERS

There were five new fires on the weekend in the Vancouver district, making a total of 50 burning. There are 500 firefighters on the job.

Largest fire in the Nelson district is the 5,000-acre blaze at Krestova, where four incendiary fires joined. Another incendiary fire that started Sunday was extinguished after burning over five acres.

LONGSHOREMEN TAKING STRIKE VOTE TONIGHT

Some 1,500 British Columbia longshoremen, including 200 in Victoria, will begin voting tonight and Tuesday on whether to strike in support of their demand for a 6 1/2-cent-an-hour wage boost.

The decision to hold the vote came after they rejected a conciliation board recommendation that they accept a 10-cent increase in the $2.57 hourly wage.

A strike would affect deep-sea shipping in Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Chemainus docks, and be the first in British Columbia involving longshoremen since 1935.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. We are informed the Community Chest is a U.S. organization with headquarters in New York. Is this correct? N.N.

A. There is no connection whatsoever between Community Chest fund raising campaigns in Canada and similar drives in the U.S. The confusion may arise because the red feather is used in some U.S. areas as it is in Canada as a symbol of united appeals.

Q. A youth of 19 who does not know where to contact either parent, has no legal guardian, and is self-supporting wants to know if he can get married. Can he? H.P.T.

A. He can, with the consent of the court. He would be best advised to contact a county court judge and explain his case, as according to law a male under 21 is a minor.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two Victoria men have successfully completed examinations and have been awarded the title and designation of Chartered Life Underwriter of Canada (C.L.U.).

City police were told Friday a thief took $40 cash and eight cheques, all in an envelope, from a filing cabinet in the office of Dr. P. F. d'Estrube, 117 Yarrow Building.

A nurse left the office unattended between 12:30 and 1 p.m. Friday and the door was unlocked, police were told.

Cpl. D. G. Thompson, 34, NCO in charge of Colwood RCMP detachment for the last two years, leaves Wednesday for a new posting at Williams Lake.

Ernest C. Olson, West Saanich Reserve, was fined $10 and David Gordon Underwood, East Saanich Reserve, was fined $25 when they pleaded guilty in Central Saanich police court to charges of having liquor in their possession.

Inquest into the death Friday of Robert Ramsay, 20, of 950 Richmond, will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at McCall's funeral home instead of Sands funeral home as previously arranged.

Ramsay was found slumped face-down in a pool of carbon tetrachloride solvent he was using to clean rugs in the basement of Humber Bros. Furniture Ltd., 1118 Langley.

Funeral will be held Wednesday at 1 p.m. from McCall's.

William Smith, 790 Canterbury, jumped fully clothed into the Gorge Saturday near the bridge on Tillicum Road to assist seven-year-old Barry Bitancourt, 1327 May, from a foundering kayak.

The boy was about 200 feet from shore when the craft began to take water. It was slightly over five feet deep at this point.

Lifeguards were on duty at the time.

A car which bowled over a street signpost and a "stop when occupied" sign at Yates and Fernwood after leaving long skid marks on the pavement early Sunday was located five minutes later by city police at 4:40 a.m.

The car was abandoned on the north side of the 900 block Yates, its front end damaged, police reported.

At 2:45 p.m., Victor Fry, 1024 Colville reported to city police that he had been the driver.

'LUCKY THAT SIX PEOPLE WEREN'T KILLED'

Huge Oak Crashes on Apartment Building

By MICHAEL ROSE

Death missed six Victorians by scant inches early this morning when a massive oak crashed on an apartment building in the 2 a.m. blackness.

"The city is lucky that six people were not killed," said F. Vincent Rush, 1221 Old Esquimalt Road, owner of the block at 895 Heywood Ave.

Shards of glass and wood splinters from smashed windows covered the beds of sleeping residents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moss, Suite 10, and Mrs. John Henning, Suite 12, as the big tree slammed into the side of the building, its huge limbs tearing window frames from the wall.

Force of the blow was dissipated by the main trunk falling at an angle to the building, and comparatively minor damage resulted to the roof and sides.

City park officials said that there was no indication above ground that the rot condition existed in the roots.

"We have spent a fair amount of money on that tree already and it was limbed to remove top weight two years ago."

The tree was located at the corner of Heywood and Rupert where work was completed recently on widening and resurfacing the road and curb.

"I had hoped that they would take the tree out," said Mr. Rush. "Friends of residents noticed it was splitting open two weeks ago."

Parks officials said that it had been a "tough year because of desiccation and dryness."

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1958 9

TOURIST HURT, 'SEEING-EYE' DOG UNWANTED

A blind American has had the shock of his life in dog-loving Victoria, the only city in his travels that has ever tried to shut the door on his seeing-eye dog.

Henry A. Young, a blind San Francisco investment counselor, expressed shock at the number of restaurants that have been unwilling to let him enter because he was accompanied by his dog—one of the famous trained German Shepherd guides for the blind.

Since coming here Friday for a visit, Mr. Young has had difficulty obtaining a meal in a restaurant, accomplished only after detailed explanations that his dog must go everywhere with him.

He also had to make a direct appeal to the management of the Empress Hotel to obtain a room. He was barred from the registration desk until an assistant manager finally lent a sympathetic ear and allowed him to register.

'THE RUSH IS ON'

Record Registry For Night School

By JOHN MIKA

Shades of 1858, the rush is on! More than 4,000 Victorians are expected to scramble this fall to stake a claim, not for gold but something more valuable—knowledge.

"We're looking for a record enrollment this year," an official of the Greater Victoria school board said today as the floodgates were thrown open for early registration in night school courses.

To meet the increasing demand for off-hours education, a record number of 97 courses have been lined up for the Sept. 29 fall term opening. Last year there were 82 courses of interest to adults.

Fees range from a low of $7 to a high of $40. Most run between the $10 and $15 bracket.

What do you get for the money and the once or twice weekly class? You can learn:

Bookkeeping; fundamentals of electronics; how to build your own home; copper tooling; conversational French; dressmaking and tailoring; how to square dance; or pick up a credit in a matriculation course like mathematics 91 to finish off your high school diploma.

That's just an indication of the scope of the courses offered—the adult population eager to add to its academic, do-it-yourself, vocational or recreational knowledge.

The courses are conducted in six schools and four private premises. They are taught by regular teachers or people in the business, such as the "Adventures in Cooking" class headed by a local Swiss chef.

Most of the courses are held between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The subjects taught number: Commercial, eight; technical, 21; general education, 24; arts and crafts, 18; languages, five; needlework, seven; recreation, 10, and matriculation, four.

In addition the night school department supervises 36 apprenticeship courses under the auspices of the department of labor.

MANY NEW COURSES

For the night-school buffs who have taken courses previously, the department has lined up several new ones.

These include: shorthand speed and transcription; principles of design for boat building; popular boat building; refrigeration; service station attendants' work; chess for beginners; elementary mineralogy; furniture upholstery recovering; geology with applications to prospecting; interior decorating; landscaping the home grounds; modelling and charm;

The chief will tell of his experiences in England and will sing an old Indian song of "thanks."

Car Sustains $500 Damage Jumped Ditch

Motorist Eugene Muzzi, 86 Dallas, received only a slight ear cut but his car sustained an estimated $500 damage when it went out of control and overturned in a field off Patricia Bay Highway at 11:45 p.m. Saturday.

Central Saanich police said Muzzi was driving south on the highway near Telegraph Road and lost control on a curve.

The car jumped a ditch and before it upset, police said. The driver was alone at the time.

Victor Hazell, 47, of 1217 Vista Heights, was treated for a leg injury and discharged from Jubilee Hospital after the motorcycle he was riding was in collision at Kings and Quadra with a car driven by Darlene Ann Taylor, 2637 Graham, at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Two girls, Jean Davis, of Royal Oak, and Beverly Baratta, 3263 Alder, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with bumped heads after the car in which they were riding was in a rear-end collision at Douglas and Herald at 7:25 p.m. Saturday.

Drivers were identified as George Grant, 422 Sparten, and Robert L. Hall, 2614 Quadra.

Erring Motorist Fails to Appear; Arrested, Fined

Eric Charman, 631 Yates, was fined a total $40 and $12.50 costs when he appeared in a special Colwood RCMP court held in Victoria Friday night.

He was arrested on a warrant when he failed to appear in court on a summons for speeding over 50, for which he was fined $15 and $7.50 costs, and for failing to produce his driver's licence when requested by a police officer, for which he was fined $25 and $5 costs.

TRAFFIC FINES

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

BREAD AND BUTTER NOTES: My daughter, who is 18, was invited by her boy friend's mother to spend a few days at their summer cottage. She went, but apparently she had a quarrel with the boy and his mother. She has said very little about the visit. She has implied that the family didn't treat her very well, but I don't know why. She will not talk about it. After she came home, she and the boy made up. It has been a month since the visit. I keep reminding her about not writing a bread-and-butter letter, but she hasn't done it yet. Rather than let any more time go by, would it be all right if I write instead?

Louise Davis Answers: Your daughter accepted the hospitality of the young man's mother and it is very important that she, not you, write a note of appreciation. It is a natural duty, even if there is animosity and even if she and the boy quarreled. It isn't logical that the mother would give your daughter such a cordial invitation, then treat her badly. My guess is that your daughter was an inconsiderate guest in some way to have incurred such displeasure. If she was, we hope she has learned a lesson. No matter who was wrong or what was wrong, she owes her hostess a thank you note. It's late but not too late. A little humility might help her to take pen in hand, but a note, even a very brief one, is a must. I hope you will keep after her until it is done. If she didn't take a gift to the mother or send one afterwards, I advise doing it. If she procrastinates, perhaps you can do it for her, but be sure to let her know before you do.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Reader Pulled Out of Deep Depression With Marathon

For a few days I am printing letters from Marathon winners. I think you will find them heart warming and interesting. As most of you know I run my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon each January. Listen to this one if you doubt that appearance has a strong effect on personality and even on happiness.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: Let it suffice to say that I had been in a state of deep depression for more than a year. I will not go into the details but I had one hard experience after another. I had severe financial reverses, critical illness, and worst of all, lost the one I loved best in the world. I barely recovered from one blow when another fell. I really think I was close to a nervous breakdown.

"I had always been a happy person with no personality problems. However, I found myself absolutely unable to pull myself out of the bog of depression which finally hit me. I realized that I was deteriorating in personality and that I was allowing myself to become unattractive physically. My friends kept begging me to snap out of it. Somehow nothing seemed worth the effort.

Then last January I read about your Marathon in "Why Grow Old?" After reading the first column I took a real good honest look at myself in the mirror. What I saw horrified me. I was plain fat. I weighed and found that I had gained 20 pounds in one year. Instead of being well-groomed my hair was stringy. I needed a permanent badly and had not been to a beauty parlor for months. I looked years older in the face. Everything about me drooped, even my posture.

"The second day I read your column about Marathon and looked at myself in the mirror again. The third day I sent for your booklet. You mentioned the fact that when one is depressed, physical self-improvement is the first step to take. I thought 'I can do that for just eight weeks.'

"I lost my 20 pounds and many inches and have begun to take an interest again in the way I look. I still have a long way to go but life begins to seem possible again. I have taken the step which I believe will enable me to salvage myself. Need I tell you how grateful I am?"

You can imagine how soul satisfying this letter is to me. It is a well known psychological fact that in illness or disturbed personalities when the patient starts taking an interest in her appearance, that is a sure sign of beginning recovery.

Even though you have not had bad times and are not depressed, a loss of unwanted pounds, improvement in measurements and complexion and hair can give your life a pickup and make you feel and look younger. It also will affect your personality and your outlook.

If you missed Marathon in January and would like to have the 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for this booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Two Offers On Yard Site Turned Down

A meeting between Saanich council and representatives of two firms which want to purchase the Douglas Street municipal yard site, will be held Wednesday at the Royal Oak municipal hall.

The firms are W. H. Malkin Co. Ltd., which has offered $92,500 for the five-acre site and promised to build a $750,000 shopping centre, and Dominion Construction which offered $50,000, but planned a $2,000,000 development.

Both offers were turned down by Saanich council until a further study was made.

Conversion Of War Bonds Nets $2,000

DUNCAN — North Cowichan municipality will gain about $2,000 through conversion of war bonds worth $118,500. Reeve C. A. P. Murison told council.

He said he had given the treasurer authority to make the conversion.

By keeping the bonds to maturity the municipality would realize $600, he said, while the conversion will give a yield of $2,500.

The mute swan of Britain's ornamental gardens is supposed to have been brought to England by Richard I from the Crusades.

VOTE WINNER GETS BOAT TOO

DUNCAN — Winner of an 18-foot cruiser and trailer in a Duncan Rotary Club draw Friday was Esquimalt councillor F. Vincent Rush, 1221 Esquimalt Road.

He was elected in a by-election last month.

Chest's Budget Chief Explains His Problems

By DAVID COWLISHAW

Walking around Victoria with an anxious expression on his face these days is Brian Tobin.

Mr. Tobin, 48, is the Community Chest's budget chairman and it will be his job and that of his committee in January to look at the money raised in the Sept.-Oct. campaign and figure out which agencies will be "chopped" and by how much.

'CHOPS' THREATEN

Of course, if the contributions tot up to $300,000 all of the 20 participating agencies will get the slices of the Chest pie that they are asking for: but, understandably, Mr. Tobin is gloomy.

"In the past we've had to whittle down the charity payments every year," he said, "simply because the money didn't come in as we expected."

"It's tragic. We have had to take $1,000 off here, $500 off there. It's not a pleasant job, I can tell you, and I hope it will not be necessary this year."

Should it be necessary? "Well, no," the budget chairman replied. "The money is in Victoria, we know that, and there's no reason why the target should not be reached."

"We are not overdoing it by asking for $300,000. Victoria can well afford to spend that much money on charity—in fact, when you look at the results of Chest drives in other cities it's obvious there's no reason why we shouldn't go over the top."

Mr. Tobin said there is bound to be "some suffering" if each charity discovers it must face the coming year with not enough cash in the kitty.

"Also, the population of Greater Victoria is getting bigger," he noted, "so there's more need."

But if Mr. Tobin is realistic, Chest accountant Art Goff is gay.

"What's Brian so melancholy about?" he asked. "The campaign is already a month ahead of schedule. We'll get that $300,000, never fear."

"We have a very strong and

very enthusiastic organization this year. This is going to be the most successful Chest ever. You go and tell Mr. Tobin there's nothing to worry about. As I see it, he won't have to do any chopping or cutting at all. Take it from me, we're going to hit that target so hard it'll surprise everybody."

Including Brian Tobin.

GANGES — M. Maddock, Victoria, and Mrs. R. F. Vapaavuori, Ganges, were top winners Sunday in the men's and women's divisions of the annual salmon derby sponsored by Salt Spring Island Rod and Gun Club.

Prizes were presented by Fred Morris, president of the sponsoring club. Fishing was poor, and many of the upwards of 60 competitors caught nothing. The derby was confined to waters adjacent to Salt Spring Island.

Other prizes were won by Ken Wagner, Seattle; Mr. Maddock, and the following, all of Ganges: R. Vapaavuori, Harold Price, F. L. Sharp, Mrs. Shirley Anderson, K. Nash, D. K. Crofton, G. H. Ruckle, Mrs. J. Wagg, Dr. I. Williams, Mac Mout Jr., Mrs. Joyce Parsons, Dennis Deacon, Laurie Mout, W. B. Hardy, Charles Mellish, B. Carmichael, and Mrs. W. Hobday.

TWO-MOUTHED SALMON TAKEN OFF COAL ISLAND

CHEMAINUS — A salmon with two mouths was caught near Coal Island this week by Joe Williams of Vancouver.

Mr. Williams is keeping his catch on ice as proof of his story.

The Mid-Islanders, who led the Victoria All-Stars 3-1 in the best-of-seven playoff series for the right to make the trip, were declared series winners by Colt League headquarters at San Bernardino when Victoria was unable to complete its schedule of home playoff games in time.

The Mid-Island therefore will be representing the whole of Canada when they compete in the series against 11 teams from all parts of the United States.

Players making the trip will be Doug Latta, Harry Glasswick and Wally Robinson, Chemainus; Bill Beck, Greg Findlay, Winston Allen, Gordon Lawlor, Bob Wilson and David Thein, Nanaimo; Ken McCaskell, Bill Greenwell, Trevor Ferguson, Rocky Wise, Lake Cowichan; Darryl Brinham and Bob Robertson, Ladysmith. Rich Harvesting Of Coho Salmon

Salmon trollers on the west coast of Vancouver Island are making up to $200 per day as a result of the best coho salmon run since 1945.

Fisheries officials cannot explain the good run except to say it may be a combination of a good spawning year and exceptional feeding conditions.

The 400 salmon trollers are catching close to 600 pounds of fish per day, and the same number of American fishermen are doing as well beyond the three-mile limit.

It is expected the run will reach Juan de Fuca Strait shortly as the fish make their way to mainland and east coast spawning streams.

Hospital Wants Talk With BCHIS On Salary Budget

The BCHIS approved a total budget of $600,000, or $2,000 less than the operating expenses of the hospital in 1957.
